Northeast Broiler Fryer Parts Part I

ATLANTA, GA.
March 20, 2002
Report Supplied By USDA

Trucklot buying activity was mostly light and unaggressive during mid-week trading as most dealers remained cautious and limited product to immediate needs. Offerings of bone-in breasts were fully adequate and boneless boneless-skinless breasts were more than sufficient for trade needs. Wings were readily available. Dark meat cuts were ample. Movement through retail and distributive channels was seasonally slow. The market tone was barely steady to weak on breast items and wings. Weak on dark meat cuts.

National Egg Market At A Glance

Atlanta, Ga.
March 20, 2002
Report Supplied By USDA

Prices were unchanged in Chicago. Elsewhere, prices were higher on mediums and unchanged on the remainder of sizes. The market tone continued in a full range of steady to firm, but was mostly fully steady. Retail and distributive demand was moderate to good. Supplies were about adequate to at times tight for present needs. Breaking stock supplies in the Midwest were tight for a moderate demand. The Eastern region breaking offerings were limited, but were short to about adequate and demand was fair. Light type fowl were generally adequate.

National Broiler Market At A Glance

Atlanta, Ga.
March 20, 2002
Report Supplied By USDA

Trade sentiment was steady to weak, mostly barely steady to weak. Retail demand was seasonally slow to fair with buying interest focused towards more traditional holiday items. Food service was strongest into fast food for promotions. Supplies were adequate to ample and frequently discounted to clear. In the parts structure, trading was light and limited to immediate needs. Tenders were in the best balance, but not difficult to find, and all other items were at least fully sufficient and barely moving. In production areas, live supplies were moderate. Weights were in a full range, but mostly desirable.

Daily National Grain Market Summary

St. Joseph, MO
March 20, 2002
Report Supplied By USDA

Grain and soybean bids were mostly lower for the day, however, another overnight export order for mostly white wheat, lent some support to wheat bids. Wet weather in winter wheat areas also weighed on bids but traders are keeping an eye on the cooler temperatures. Slight declines in corn bids were due to the continued absence of fresh export interest this week and weakness in soybean pits. Soybean bids dropped sharply lower after Tuesday's higher trend. South American weather remains a pressure factor for beans as well as the lack of export demand. Traders are waiting for next week's Planting Intentions report to be released. Wheat 2 to 5 cents lower except Portland 1 to 2 cents higher. Corn steady to mostly 1 cent lower. Sorghum 1 to 5 cents lower. Soybeans 4 to 5 cents lower.

Virginia Broilers And Fryers

Harrisonburg, Va.
March 19, 2002
Report Supplied By USDA

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was moderate and clearing the market at a reasonable rate. Demand was moderate with average buyer interest and trading. Live supplies were moderate for the market being reported with an estimated slaughter of 1,153,000 compared to 1,347,000 last Tuesday. Weights were desirable. Processing schedules were moderate. Actual slaughter for the week of 3/11 to 3/15/2002 was 6,430,949 with an average weight of 4.95.

Negotiated F.O.B. dock prices, 2 pounds and heavier ice-packed broilers and fryers, trucklot sales of US Grade A or equivalent were steady at .47 - .57 per pound; less than trucklot sales .47 -.67 per pound.

National Turkey Market At A Glance

Des Moines, Iowa
March 20, 2002
Report Supplied By USDA

DOMESTIC MARKET HIGHLIGHTS:The market tone was steady at best on frozen 8-16 lb hens and 16-24 lb toms. Negotiations were ongoing on larger packages for deferred shipment. Offers were adequate, however buyers were reluctant to commit. Light trading centered in the Midwest for prompt shipment at steady prices. Activity on bulk meat and bulk parts was light.

EXPORT MARKET HIGHLIGHTS: Inquiry from Mexico was light due to the approaching holiday period. Interest from Asia was spotty, some countries from the Former Soviet Union were not in the market.

The Old Farmer's Almanac This Week With Almanac

MARCH 25–31, 2002

EASTER, MARCH 31

EASTER-EGG CHICKENS

The Araucana breed of chicken is a dual-purpose (meat or egg) fowl that lays a blue-green egg The Araucana is sometimes called the "Easter egg chicken," which is actually an Araucana mix and not a recognized breed; the mongrel type is easier to find, and its egg color is more variable If you plan to dye eggs for Easter, however, the white eggs of breeds such as the Ancona, California White, Leghorn, and Minorca hens are your best bet, although the brown eggs of the Rhode Island Red, White Rock, Golden Comet, New Hampshire Red, and Plymouth Rock are fine, too!

A hen is only an egg's way of making another egg.

–Samuel Butler English novelist and satirist (1835–1902)

TIP OF THE WEEK

Puncture the end of an egg with a pin so that it will be less likely to crack while boiling.

ORANGE DESSERT OMELET

3 large eggs, divided
2 to 3 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons frozen orange-juice concentrate
1 tablespoon butter
fresh orange slices, as garnish

Beat the yolks with the sugar, then add the orange flavoring Beat whites separately until stiff. At medium-high heat, melt butter in a nonstick omelet pan or skillet Gently fold the whites into the yolk mixture, then pour the mixture into the warm pan or skillet Do not stir as it cooks After 1 minute, fold omelet and place on a warmed dinner plate Arrange garnish, and serve

Makes 4 servings.

The Old Farmer's Weather Proverbs

If hens roost earlier than usual, rain is on the way.

A rainy Easter betokens a good harvest.

Carefully Nonpartisan

Early this week we received an e-mail from someone who is in a position to run against an incumbent for a regional election.

The e-mail indicated the candidate was looking for help, and any information about how to go about it — including a front-page story, perhaps — would be appreciated.

This is how we replied (names have been omitted to protect the individual's right to privacy):

Dear candidate:

As a dear friend, I wish you the best, of course, and good luck in your campaign. You are a wonderful person and would make a great leader!

I just wanted to let you know, though, that as Lancaster Farming editor, I am under the eyes of 50,000 readers, and there are several policies I must follow. (This is from the experience of my predecessors here at the Lancaster Farming.)

While I wish you personal success, there are several things I couldn't do, no matter who would run.

Lancaster Farming is nonpartisan. We have to be that way. We do not own a "mirror" paper, similar to ours that could share different party status, like some city dailies have.

As a result, we have to maintain that integrity of being balanced and fair — so if we endorse one candidate, we have to endorse them all. And where would it end?

See what I mean?

Farmers aren't foolish. They know when we come out in support. They wonder about our motives. They wonder what's happening behind the scenes, and why we make the decisions we do.

For example, this past week I wrote the "governor" candidate story, and the only reason I started with Rendell is because he was the only candidate that showed up prior to Cornucopia, the annual state event. I tried to ensure there was no first or preferential candidate throughout the story, on the front page, and in the graphic we did on the candidate platforms.

You will see no endorsements at any time for any candidate from the editor or writers during any election year. It's a formula that has worked for many years. We simply can't do it any other way.

(Now, if candidates want to take out an ad, they can contact our advertising director.)

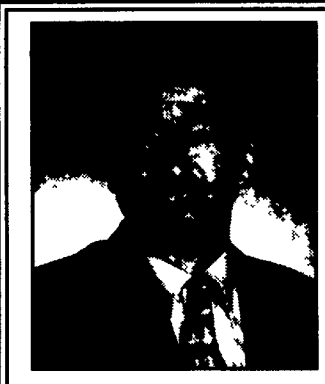
Besides, we want to keep all our readers, of whatever party affiliation.

So, best of luck!

— Andy Andrews

Editor, Lancaster Farming

In this election year, we'll provide that objective "balance" that every reader has come to expect from us. It's journalism in its proper form.



Now Is The Time

Lancaster County Extension Director

To Prune Raspberries And Blackberries

The Penn State Cooperative Extension publication entitled "Small-Scale Fruit Production" supplies the following information on pruning your brambles.

June-bearing red raspberries will grow naturally in a hedgerow system. The suckers, originating from the root system, will fill in the entire length of the row. March is the best time to prune in Pennsylvania, because any cane dieback from cold will be apparent; however, raspberries can be dormant-pruned anytime canes are fully dormant.

In the dormant season, remove canes outside the 12-inch width of the row, thin canes to 6 to 8 inches between canes, and top remaining canes to 48 to 60 inches in height, removing about one-fourth of the cane. Be sure to retain those canes with the largest diameter. No summer pruning (except for spent floricane removal) is necessary, although suckers growing outside the 12-inch hedgerow may be removed at any time.

For dormant pruning of black and purple raspberries, remove all dead, damaged, and weak canes. Thin remaining canes to 5 to 10 canes per plant. Lateral branches should be headed back to 4 to 7 inches (for blacks) or 6 to 10 inches (for purples). More vigorous plants can support longer lateral branches. All canes should be topped to 36 inches if they were not topped earlier.

Black and purple raspberries require summer topping throughout the summer in addition to floricane removal after harvest. Floricanes are the stalks that bear fruit. Black and purple raspberries should be topped at 36 inches, removing 3 to 4 inches of new growth. Do this two to three times during the season to top all of the canes as they grow. Topping encourages the development of lateral (fruiting) branches and increases the strength of the cane. Black raspberries will tend to have a very prostrate growth habit in the first year. If canes are pruned back in the dormant season, they will attain a more erect habit in subsequent years.

Everbearing red (or gold) raspberries should be mowed to a height of 1 to 2 inches in the dormant season. Although some gardeners prune them like June-bearing red raspberries to obtain the very small spring crop (only about 10 percent of the total crop for Heritage), it is more practical to plant some of the June bearers if one desires a spring and a fall crop.

Erect blackberries do not require trellising. They have, as the name suggests, very strong upright canes. They should be pruned similarly to black and purple raspberries, with laterals cut back to 12-18 inches and canes thinned to 10 inches apart in the hedgerow during the dormant pruning. Erect blackberries should be headed back to 36 inches in the summer.

For dormant pruning of trailing blackberries, select five to eight of the strongest canes, remove all laterals originating on the lower 3 feet of the canes, and tip back remaining laterals to 12-18 inches. Trailing blackberries should be summer-tipped at about 6 inches above the highest trellis wire and tied to it during the summer months.

The publication, "Small-Scale Fruit Production," contains a wealth of information on all the small fruits and several tree fruits. This will assist you in everything from variety selection to nutritional requirements to controlling wildlife damage. It is available from your local county extension office for $9.

To Calibrate Your Liquid Manure Spreader

Nutrient management plans are written to account for a number of important factors when determining how much manure to apply to a given field. These factors include the nutrient requirements of the crop, the time to incorporation, and carryover of nutrients from previous manure application and the soil fertility levels of the field.

These extensive calculations will not do much good if the application equipment is not calibrated properly so that you know that the rate applied is the one called for in the nutrient management plan. For most liquid manure equipment, getting the proper application rate is a matter of adjusting ground speed. There are a number of methods one can use to check the calibration of the application equipment.

Calibration can be done by simply spreading a full load in a square or rectangular pattern with the typical amount of overlaps. Next measure the length and width of the covered area in feet. Do not include the outside edges if there is a significantly lower application rate. Calculate the area covered in acres using the following simple formula. Multiply the length (in feet) and the width of the covered area and divide the result by 43,560 square foot, which is the area of an acre. The answer is the part of an acre or acres covered by your load. Next divide the number of gallons in your spreader load by the answer from the first calculation. This answer will be the gallons per acre that were applied at the speed used in the calibration.

After you have determined the application rate for the first load, repeat the procedure for different ground speeds. This will give you a good understanding of the spreading rate over a range of operating conditions.

Quote Of The Week:

"Be more concerned with your character than with your reputation. Your character is what you really are while your reputation is merely what others think you are."

— John Wooden (Legendary UCLA basketball coach who won a record 10 NCAA championships, including a record seven straight championships from 1967-1973.)

Devotional Reading:
Psalms 32:1-5.

Paul used legal analogies to speak to the Christians in Rome on the subject of salvation. He used the term "justification," which means the act by which a person is held to be righteous in the eyes of the law.

In Romans 5:1, Paul says: "Therefore, since we are justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ." Though we are deserving of condemnation, by faith we grasp the gift of justification which ushers us into a new relationship with God.

Unfortunately, some of Paul's interpreters have misunderstood him and, instead of seeing justification as an analogy, have essentially interpreted justification in a very legalistic way. The offender breaks the law, is apprehended and arrested, brought before the judge and, like a Monopoly player with a "Get Out of Jail Free" card, is declared innocent and released.

Thus regarded, salvation is seen as a means of escaping the trouble into which we have gotten ourselves. There have been more than a few notable sinners who have waited until their last days to convert to Christ and avoid the consequences of their lives.

A Radical Change

That, however, is not what salvation means in the gospel of Jesus Christ. It is not just escape from our sins, but the doorway to a new life. Justification is just the beginning of salvation. Salvation is not a declaration of loyalty to Christ as much as it is a whole new relationship with him.

Albert W. Palmer affirms this: "Salvation is not something that is done for you, but something that happens within you. It is not the clearing of a court record, but the transformation of a life attitude."

Theologian William Temple has written of this need: "The worst things that happen do not happen because a few people are monstrously wicked, but because most people are like us. When we grasp that, we begin to realize that our need is not merely for moving quietly on in the way that we are going; our need is for radical change, to find a power that is going to turn us into something else. This is what the Gospel offers to do."

Salvation, therefore, does not mean just that the charge against us has been dropped, but that we have offered our lives to be transformed. Paul's legal analogy is fine, so long as we don't think of salvation as a legal transaction. It is really so much more than that. As Charles Clayton Morrison put it, "The love of God is no mere sentimental feeling; it is redemptive power."

Fruits Of Salvation

So, salvation means "peace with God" (5:1). God is not reconciled to us, but we are reconciled to him because we were the ones who broke off our relationship with him. Salvation also means our entrance into grace "Through him we have obtained access to this grace" (5:2).

All life is a gift from God. Salvation also changes our attitudes toward suffering, which we now see as an opportunity to grow in grace (5:3). We also realize that salvation is offered to us at a time when we were least worthy of receiving it (5:6-9).

More than that, salvation signifies that we shall be "saved by his life" (5:10). What this means is that in this new relationship we participate in the present life of Christ as the risen Lord. If we are "saved," we will open our lives to Christ so that he can live in us and through us. Salvation, then, is not just an adjustment of our legal standing before God, it is something that transforms our lives. What we are saved from is not just condemnation before God the judge, but a life that is fruitless and futile.

Sin is one of the most powerful forces in the world, but God's grace is even more powerful. " . . . Where sin increased, grace abounded all the more." (5:20). No life is beyond redemption because, no matter how powerful the grip of sin may be in us, the transforming power of grace is always that much more powerful.

LIMING THIS SPRING?

Use the old lime for old time results, or Use Reclime® with Soluble Silicon for:
- Increased quality and yield
- Improved nutrient management (Phosphorus and micros.)
- Better plant health

Reclime® is a calcium silicate-liming product with excellent liming ability (CCE 90+%, Ca 26%, Mg 6%), and has over 20 times more plant available silicon than traditional limestone. Extensive university and independent testing has shown that the silicon in Reclime® provides increased benefits to crop production including:
- Increased drought tolerance
- Reduced aluminum and sodium toxicity
- Lower disease susceptibility

Visit on the web at www.recmixusa.com to find out how Reclime® can maximize your production at an affordable cost!

Weekly Dairy Market Outlook

Ken Bailey
Penn State
March 15, 2002
February Milk Production
Up 2.8 Percent

- Production per cow up 43 pounds.
- Cow inventory growing slowly.
- Cheese and butter markets holding.

USDA released the milk production report today. February milk production for 20 select states rose 2.8 percent relative to a year ago. That reflects moderate growth in the milk supply, which was in line with market expectations. There have been reports of an early spring flush in much of the U.S. because of mild winter weather.

February milk production was 11.4 billion pounds. January revised milk production was 12.3 billion pounds, up 1.8 percent from a year ago. Milk production per cow for the 20 major states in February was 1,474 pounds, up 43 pounds from a year ago. And cow numbers were at 7.75 million head, 1,000 head more than a month ago.

There were many states that showed a strong milk production response in February. Production continued to grow in the Western states (California up 4.8 percent, Washington up 3.4 percent, Arizona up 5.9 percent, Idaho up 7.6 percent, and New Mexico up 15.3 percent). The Corn Belt states also showed some gains (Illinois up 3.1 percent and Indiana up 2.6 percent). The Upper Midwest, however, was neutral to lower (Wisconsin up 0.5 percent, Minnesota down 4.7 percent, and Iowa down 2 percent).

Except for Pennsylvania, the Northeast showed strong gains (New York up 6.1 percent, Vermont up 4.4 percent, and Pennsylvania down 0.5 percent). Even states such as Missouri and Texas, which showed significant declines in the last few years, were about neutral with respect to growth (Missouri up 1.3 percent and Texas down 0.5 percent).

The markets were unchanged this week at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange. Blocks and barrels were basically frozen at $1.21 and $1.18 per pound, respectively. There were no cheese sales this week at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange. Also, Grade AA butter rose very modestly from $1.2425 per pound on Monday, March 11 to $1.25 by Friday, March 15.

USDA reports that butter prices were relatively stable this week because of strong demand for cream. Preholiday sales are brisk this time of year as retailers prepare for Easter/Passover sales. Thus surplus milk is finding a home, at least for now.

There is very little change in the outlook for milk prices through the end of the year. The Chicago Mercantile Exchange futures markets for Class III and IV are remarkably stable. Class III futures are expected to slowly rise to just more than $12 per CWT by June, then rise above $13 per CWT for July through September. Class IV futures are expected to range from $11.50-11.90 per CWT for March through July, then reach just more than $12 per CWT for August-December.

Average Farm Feed Costs for Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania.

Remember, these are averages, so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

National Feeder Cattle Weekly Summary

St. Joseph, Mo.
March 15, 2002
Report Supplied By USDA

NATIONAL FEEDER CATTLE SUMMARY for week ending Mar. 15. Receipts: This week 183,900; last week 157,800; year ago 200,700. This week's reported volume included 50 percent weighing over 600 lbs. Compared to last week, feeder steers and heifers sold 1.00-3.00 lower with the most pressure placed on cattle weighing over 800 lbs and expected to finish around July. The June and August CME Live Cattle Futures contracts are both trading near 67.50 and buyers are pulling in the reins on heavy feeders, as they know that the fat cattle market is historically sour during the dog days of summer. This past week's lower feeder cattle prices were fairly uniform across the nation, with the only bright spot being lighter weight stocker cattle in grass country. Demand was very good for the thin 5 and 6 weight cattle in any state that neighbors Oklahoma or Kansas and prices were steady to firm. Despite this summer grazing demand, most of the Plains region is seriously dry and the word drought is being mentioned more and more.

The cattle industry received a bruising cheap shot on Wednesday, when rumors of a Hoof and Mouth scare were brought to life by the media. Even though the incident turned out to be nothing more than a couple Kansas cows with blistered mouths from chewing on something besides hay; the Board turned sharply lower and feedlots were forced to settle for a 74.00 market, after setting their sights on 75.00 or maybe even 76.00. It's a shame that the spread of unconfirmed reports can blindside the cattle market and shed unneeded negative publicity on the industry. Isn't it still against the law to yell "FIRE" in a crowded theater? And, when was the last time that the cattle market locked up-the-limit on rumors and innuendo? Nevertheless, this story was enough to send both the cattle and dressed beef markets into a tailspin.

Friday's bearish cattle-on-feed report dealt another blow to the feeder cattle market. Although on feed numbers were 1 percent below last year and marketings were 4 percent more than 2001, February's feedlot placements were 116 percent of last year's and far surpassed most analyst's expectations.....Maybe it'll rain next week.

Delmarva Broiler/Fryer

ATLANTA, GA.
March 20, 2002
Report Supplied By USDA

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds and parts was limited. Seller offerings of whole birds were readily available, competitively priced, and slow in clearing. Live supplies were seasonally moderate; weights were light to heavy, mostly desirable to heavy. Processing schedules varied, and were moderate overall. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 49 to 63 cents. Trade sentiment was generally weak. In the parts complex, all items remained fully sufficient for the generally lackluster buying interest. ESTIMATED SLAUGHTER OF BROILER/FRYERS IN DELMARVA (000) ESTIMATED ACTUAL AVG. Cut out for cattle

115-hp John Deere 7510 Tractor

Running a livestock operation can be grueling work. And that's exactly why we've incorporated just the right features, right power, and right price into our 115-hp John Deere 7510 Tractor.

Its field-proven pressure- and flow-compensated hydraulic system delivers tremendous loader lift capacity and breakout force.

A 16-speed PowrQuad™ transmission sets the right pace for baling, tillage, and mowing...plus eases routine loader work. And standard Caster/Action™ MFWD promotes tight, productive turns, adding to your maneuverability.

You'll appreciate the roomy ComfortGard™ cab, especially this winter. Strategically-positioned vents ensure uniform heating and air circulation, keeping your feet warm and your windows frost-free.

Add an efficient 6.8 L POWERTECH® engine, and you'll have all the power you need to tackle the vigorous tasks a livestock operation demands.

Check out a John Deere 7510 Tractor. It's cut out for all the chores you'll have in store...at a price you can afford.

PRICES OF CONDENSED SKIM, dollars per lb. wet solids, F.O.B. producing plants: Northeast: Class II, includes monthly formula prices: .9700-1.0500; Class III - spot prices - .8800-.9900.

SPOT SHIPMENTS OF GRADE A MILK: FLORIDA: This week - In 0, Out 83; last week - In 0, Out 30; last year - In 0, Out 139. SOUTHEAST STATES: This week - In 0, Out 0; last week - In 0, Out 0; last year - In 0, Out 0.

Regional Milk Market Administrators announced the following, February 2002 uniform prices: Northeast $13.48, Mideast $12.46, Southeast $13.75, Florida $15.46, and Western New York (a state order) $13.27 at the base cities/counties in the orders. (For the Northeast, Mideast, and Western New York orders, statistical uniform prices are reported.) During February, milk production in the 20 major states totaled 11.42 billion pounds, up 2.8% from February 2001. The following are the February - to - February changes for selected states: Vermont 4.4%, New York 6.1%, Virginia 2.6%, Kentucky 1.5%, Pennsylvania -0.5%, Texas -0.5%, and Florida -3.3%. Heavy rains fell on large areas of the Southeast and the storm is headed into New England where light snow and colder temperatures are predicted. The heavy rains caused widespread flooding and damage. This led to disruptions in power and transportation in Tennessee, Mississippi, Arkansas, and parts of nearby states. Milk production gains have been retarded in the storm-affected areas and also in Florida where temperatures are reaching into the 90's.

Milk output in the Northeast is about steady. Milk supplies are excessive of the Class I demand and surplus volumes remain heavy. Bottled milk sales are reported as slow in most areas of the region. Many colleges are on spring break and most states have all or a portion of their school systems on vacation. Many more will be on break next week. This slow down in school lunch needs is pushing more milk into manufacturing channels. Most cheese and butter/powder plants are operating at or near capacity.

The condensed skim market is steady and prices are unchanged. Some improved demand for wet solids from cheese makers is noted, which eases the pressure on dryers.

The spot fluid cream market is showing signs of improvement, but supplies are still excessive and clearances to butter plants continue. Prices for spot cream are generally lower. Although the CME butter price is lower, the multiples used to determine prices have occasionally moved higher. Bottlers are pulling more cream as they prepare for anticipated Easter/Passover needs. Ice cream makers are stepping up production and building inventories for spring and summer needs. Cream cheese output is about steady at moderate levels. Churning activity is lighter, but quite a few loads of excess cream continue to move to Midwestern butter plants.

DO YOU HAVE ENOUGH WATER FOR THE SUMMER?

Thomas R. McCarty
Extension Agent
— Water Quality
Capitol Region

Holes in rock are selling like funnel cakes at the county fair. The folks who make them are extremely busy in southeastern Pennsylvania. The folks buying them usually already own one that is proving to be too shallow. I am talking about wells, of course.

The water table is reaching record low levels in many places. When it drops below the bottom of a homeowner's well, it causes them an inconvenience. When it drops below the bottom of your farm well, it's an emergency!

The point is, there are only few people depending on the water from a homeowner's well while there are probably 50 to several hundred cows drawing water from your farm well. Households can be supplied with water from the grocery store, but your farm cannot.

I hope this convinces you to do two things. The first is to make a plan for a water emergency. The second is to monitor the water level in your well. This will allow you to predict a water shortage far enough ahead to be able to supply water without interruption.

Let's look at monitoring your well first. I mentioned that groundwater levels are reaching record lows. This year's window of opportunity for recharge is also closing. Recharge usually occurs between October and May. After crops begin growing actively, they effectively prevent rainfall from reaching the water table. They transpire water at rates sufficient to use all rainfall that infiltrates from May to September.

For this reason, I believe monitoring of wells supplying livestock water is an important first step. We will enter the summer at record low levels and the levels will likely fall still farther. We are entering uncharted territory.

The object of monitoring is to determine if there is adequate water over the pump intake in the well for uninterrupted water use. I suggest two measurements be made on the same day. The first should be done at the end of a period of minimum use, perhaps the first thing in the morning. Suppose you measured 50 feet from ground level to water level. The second measurement should occur at the end of a period of maximum use. This would typically be after the morning or evening chores are finished. Suppose this measurement is 150 feet from ground level to water level. Repeat these measurements for several days to be sure they are representative. If there is little or no difference between these two measurements, the well is high yielding. Significant differences in these two readings is an indication that the flow rate of the well is beginning to diminish.

To evaluate the measurements we also need to know at what depth the pump intake is located. Let's suppose it is at the 200-foot level. A morning measurement of 50 feet would indicate there is 150 feet of water over the pump. This should make you cheer. A measurement of 150 feet following a heavy use period still leaves us with 50 of water covering the pump. This is still adequate, since 10 feet of water should be sufficient to let the pump operate satisfactorily. The difference between the two readings, which in this example was 100 feet, should be written down somewhere for monitoring and for future reference.

The next step is to continue the early morning measurements on a weekly or monthly basis. If this measurement drops to 90 feet and the differential reading stays at 100 feet, the well has now reached the critical point of 10 feet of water over the pump during heavy use. Monitoring the water levels periodically and graphing the readings over time can help you predict when you could potentially expect a serious water shortage problem.

Let me list some key points about measuring water depths. First, don't drop equipment down the well. Bore a hole in a piece of plywood and feed the measuring tape through that. Second, don't get the tape stuck. There are centering guides along the pipe to make the pipe and wire stand off from the borehole, which makes the job of lowering the tape interesting. Connect a slender weight securely to the tape, and make sure there are no edges or frays that will cause it to get snagged. Don't use a weight that would be a catastrophe if lost in the well, such as lead, for example. A steel tape coated with carpenter's chalk makes the water level easy to read. A solid cake kind of chalk works well for this. Finally, the tape and weight should be disinfected before sending it down the borehole. If you don't have a bacteria problem, don't create one.

The other important action to take is to develop an emergency plan. What would you do if there were no water tomorrow morning? We hope you will never experience this. How could you quickly get water to the operation in this emergency?

Some important things to consider are a source of water and a way to get it to the farm, a sanitary storage tank, a second pump to remove water from storage, piping to deliver water to the appropriate places, and a method of disinfecting the water. This plan should be reviewed with other people who will be affected, such as the milk sanitarian, the contractor for feeder animals, employees, etc.

Longer term planning could include having a back up pump and all the equipment necessary for pulling the pump. Materials to sanitize the well after pump replacement should also be available. A possible long-term goal could be to have a backup well, especially on a larger operation.

Before drilling a well, consult with a hydrogeologist to help select a site that is likely to provide a high yield of water. Is the site far enough removed from other wells and possible sources of contamination? Is it in a convenient location for future expansion? After satisfying these considerations, the well can be drilled and developed. Developing a well refers to the procedure used to clean mud from the walls of the borehole and fines from the water bearing zones near the well so that the well can achieve a high yield.

Be sure the well is properly cased and protected from surface water contamination. Final considerations would be providing adequate pipe and wire size for satisfactory pump operation. Also, develop an effective maintenance schedule for the well, especially if it remains an occasional-use well.

Contact person: Larry Freeborn
Route 517
Allamuchy, NJ 07820
Phone: (908) 813-0892

Tranquility Farms is located in the fertile Tranquility Valley in Warren and Sussex counties. It is owned by Larry and Carol Freeborn and their children, Jessie, 15, Erin, 13, Zach, 10, and Becky, 5. The current farm operation consists of a 330-head Holstein herd of which 140 cows are milked in two tie-stall barns. The herd average is 26,350 pounds milk, 3.9 percent — 1,040 of fat, and 3 percent — 794 of protein, with a herd BAA of 107.2. The breeding program is focused on using highly reliable, good type bulls that are plus on components. Tranquility Farms is a diverse operation, with the main focus being the dairy business. They have a growing roadside market and greenhouse business and see a great future in this endeavor. They sell hay to New Jersey's growing horse industry and straw for the fall decorative and mulch market. The crop operation consists of 600 acres, of which 310 are owned and enrolled in New Jersey's Farmland Preservation Program. They grow 275 acres of corn, 135 acres of alfalfa, 100 acres of grass hay, and 80 acres of vegetables, mainly sweet corn and pumpkins, and cut flowers.

Phone: (908) 369-4381

Norz-Hill Farm consists of more 1,200 acres and is in the New Jersey Farmland Preservation Program. Norz-Hill is home to more than 450 registered Holsteins. They have 300 cows on DHIR Test and will be expanding to 400. They are home to several top index and show-winning cow families. They have placed more than 25 bulls into AI studs and have marketed and sold embryos worldwide. The feature index family is the Norz-Hill Cleitus Winken Ex family. Members of this cow family include Norz-Hill P Winner Ex 93 at Taurus Service and Norz-Hill Bench Winnie Ex 92. They work with two Winchester granddaughters of Winken that are high on the TPI List. Both cows complete eight generations of VG or Ex with more than 3.5 percent protein and 4 percent fat. Both cows are contracted. In the show ring they have been successful at regional and national shows, and at the New Jersey State Show. In the past 12 years they have had six grand champions, seven junior champions, been premier exhibitor seven times, and premier breeder three times, while showing in the New Jersey state show. They have bred 12 Excellent cows (up to Ex 94) and developed 35 more.

Started in the 1940s, this family owned, multifaceted agricultural enterprise encompasses dairy, cropping, equine, forestry, and wildlife management. The prefix "Milk &Honey" is synonymous with producing high-quality milk and genetics. The Holstein BAA of 109.6, along with a rolling herd average of more than 25,000 pounds of milk and a low cell count, exemplifies herd quality. The same holds true for the other two breeds housed at Cedar Lane Farm. The Brown Swiss and Jersey herd classification scores average E-92 points and carry on this tradition of excellence. Cedar Lane Farm welcomes all visitors anytime to view any of the ongoing agricultural endeavors and a special invitation to Holstein convention visitors.

All tours will end at Cedar Lane for a "surf and tanbark" picnic meal. The meal can be bought separately from the tours. The farm is 2-2½ hours away from Atlantic City (each way).

Clover Valley Farm, Inc.

Fritz and Jean Wainwright have operated Clover Valley Farm for 47 years. Their sons who are fifth generation farmers now manage the farm. The farm consists of about 200 acres with 330 registered Holsteins with an RHA of 26,000 and more than 300 young stock. Clover Valley has four bulls in AI studs. The dairy operation is owned and operated by Fred and Kathy Wainwright.

The dairy facilities include a double-10 milking parlor with computerized meters. The animals are housed in a freestall facility with sand for bedding and automated alley scrappers. A commodity shed with seven bays is also an essential part of the operation. Several commodities are fed alfalfa hay, cottenseed, soybean meal, brewers' grain, Myerwood Farms has modernized its facilities and animal care in stages. The herd has a RHA of 28,315 pounds on 350 registered animals, classifies on the limited program every seven months and shows animals. Various electronic devices such as meters, automatic ID with activity, sort gate, palpation rail and computer reports enable them to manage and track each cow as an individual. Emphasis is placed on timely harvest plus foodstuffs bought and stored in the commodity shed. The manure pit expansion included two "bridges" with the addition of a six-row (160-cow) freestall barn in 1999. The farm is located 14 miles east of the Delaware Memorial Bridge right on Rt. 40 on your way to Atlantic City.

New World Dairy Expo
Dairy Cattle Exhibitors Committee Named

MADISON, Wis. — The first meeting of World Dairy Expo's newly restructured cattle exhibitor committee met recently. The new Dairy Cattle Exhibitors Committee (DCEC) replaces the former Dairy Cattle Show Committee. World Dairy Expo's DCEC reports to the board of directors and provides guidance in all cattle show matters. More than 65,000 producers and dairy industry enthusiasts are expected for this year's World Dairy Expo Oct. 2-6 at the Alliant Energy Center in Madison, Wis.

Expo's board of directors approved the committee restructuring plan last summer and the 2001 exhibitors voted to select their representatives. The purpose of restructuring the committee was to allow exhibitors to select representatives and to involve more cattle exhibitors in the decision-making process. The new committee will meet twice a year.

World Dairy Expo is an international trade and cattle show for dairy producers. Last year, 62,705 visitors from 66 countries attended the show. For more information about this year's show contact World Dairy Expo at (608) 224-6455 or go online at www.worlddairyexpo.com.

2002 National Holstein Convention

For more information, contact Judy Bagge, jbagge@holstein.com (800) 952-5200, ext. 4128

RINGOES, N.J. — The New Jersey Holstein-Friesian Association (NJH-FA) will host the National Holstein Convention in Atlantic City June 23-27 at the Taj Mahal Hotel and Casino.

"We're on course and doing very well," national convention chairman Joe Valen, Somerset, N.J., told Lancaster Farming.

Valen provided updates from all planning committee activities late in January this year at the NJH-FA meeting attended by more than 50 members, families, and friends at the Amwell Valley Fire House in Ringoes, N.J.

Valen reminded those who want to attend that registration deadline is May 15.

Said Valen, "The National Holstein Convention will provide a unique opportunity for agribusiness representatives to gather with Holstein breeders from around the country in Atlantic City. More than 3,000 are expected to attend this exciting event."

The host association has picked the theme, "New Jersey and You in 2002," adopted from the state's popular tourist slogan, to emphasize the importance of N.J. to the U.S. food-producing industry.

Following are schedules and sign-up forms.

New Jersey and You in 2002!
Cultural Day Tours

New Jersey is such a small state there couldn't be anything there for me to do!

1. Dolphin/Whale Watching
Are you up for a three hour tour? Don't worry Gilligan will not be your first mate on this 3 hour ride on the S.S. CRUISE N 1. This will be a relaxing cruise on the open waters off of Atlantic City. While taking in the beautiful sights be on the lookout for Dolphins and Whales. The tours will leave the Trump Taj Mahal hotel at 12:30 PM and arrive back at the hotel at 4:00 PM for a cost of $35.00 per person.

2. Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island
New Jersey's finest landmark. Did your family come through Ellis Island? Was the Statue of Liberty the first thing your ancestors saw when they came to America? Learn about the trials and tribulations people went through to come to the great melting pot. See the Statue in all her glory. The cost is $35.00/person, lunch is on your own. Transportation to Liberty Island leaves the hotel at 7:00 AM and will return at 5:00 PM.

3. Historical Tour - Washington's Crossing/Trenton Barracks/Princeton Area/Monmouth Battlefield.
New Jersey: "the Cockpit of the Revolution." More battles of the War for Independence were fought in New Jersey than any other state. Join us as we follow in the footsteps of General Washington and his gallant continentals. Cross the Delaware to defeat the dreaded Hessians in Trenton. March north to stop the British at Princeton. After touring the old college town, nose east to catch the main English army at the Battle of Monmouth. You will walk the ground where the freedom we all value so much was won for us. A box lunch will be included for a cost of $35.00/person. The tour will leave at 7:30 AM and will return at 5:30 PM.

4. Fishing
So you want to fish in a big pond. This eight-hour trip will include fishing 12 to 15 miles off shore, poles, bait, tackle and lunch. Fluke, Sea bass and Blue fish are some of the fish that run this time of year. This trip is 7:30 AM to 5:00 PM and the cost is $65.00/person.

5. Battleship NJ and the State Aquarium
Want to see the marine life but not sure you want to get on a boat? The State Aquarium has over 800 species of water life. And see one of the finest vessels that set afloat with 16 battle stars. The USS New Jersey was the most decorated battleship in naval history. You will be responsible for your lunch. The cost per person is $35.00 and the bus will leave at 8:00 AM and return to the hotel at 5:00 PM.

6. Fishing
If you want to fish for larger sea life there is a boat available to go anytime during the convention. This is the best time of year to fish for Bluefin Tuna, which can range between 50 to 80 lbs. Please contact Rich Norz at norzhillfarm@earthlink.net for more information. The boat is limited to 6 people per trip.

Please make three choices in order of preference, number one being your first choice. Space is limited on some trips and availability will be on first-come first-serve basis.

Don't miss this opportunity to sample the history and beauty in the state of NJ. It isn't every day that you get to see the Garden State!

Conservation Champions Honored At Banquet

DAVE LEFEVER
Lancaster Farming Staff

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancaster County Conservation District served its 51st annual banquet at Yoder's Restaurant here March 14.

The evening was highlighted by an awards ceremony recognizing a number of people who have made soil and water conservation a priority in their life and work. They include youth, educators, developers, an engineer, and a farm family.

H. Andrew Jackson and his family received the 2002 Soil Stewardship Award for a lifetime of dedication to conservation-based farming practices on their 130-plus acre farm near Peach Bottom.

Jackson was born on the fourth-generation farm and grew up helping with the 30-cow dairy operation. His father first had the farm laid out in contour strips in the 1930s, and it has been farmed that way since.

Along with wife Eva and their three children, Jackson purchased the farm in the 1960s. Crop production and soil conservation are the main focuses on the farm today.

Conservation technician Eric Samus spoke about the high priority put on tradition and land stewardship on the Jackson homestead.

A conservation-based rotation of hay, corn, and wheat, along with cover-cropping and maintaining contour strips, add up to a "shining example of traditional and simple forms of soil conservation," he said.

Jackson's son, Andrew, and grandsons Troy and Randy, have also taken conservation practices well beyond the home farm, installing conservation terraces and waterways on many southern Lancaster County farms as part of their excavating business.

Other groups recognized for outstanding attention to conservation practices in Lancaster County included those who partnered on the Rt. 30 construction project west of Lancaster. These included the Dick Corporation, the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation, and Michael Baker, Inc.

The developers of Stony Battery Corporate Center also received a Conservation of Natural Resources Award.

Regency V Partners, working together with ELA Group consultants and West Hempfield Township officials, designed a comprehensive stormwater management system that resolved flooding problems on the Stony Battery site.

Derek Daly, Bill Lewis, and Jason Wagner were recognized for their work as counselors and positive role models at the Lancaster County Youth Conservation School.

Fred Habegger and Barry Runk of Grant Heilman Photography, Inc., were also recognized for their service to the school.

Habegger's photographs, developed by Runk, have documented the hundreds of students who have benefited from conservation school activities over the years.

Jason Wagner and Stephanie Feister each received the $1,000 Ann Brown Memorial Scholarship for beginning their college career this year in a curriculum that focuses on natural resources and/or conservation. Feister plans to major in agricultural sciences and education at Penn State, and Wagner in biology and ecology at Millersville University.

Carey Kalupson, ag teacher at Solanco High School, received the Environmental Educator Award for offering his students opportunities to learn conservation practices firsthand. Kalupson has initiated various projects for students, including stream stabilization and stream bank fencing.

The Conservation Service Award went to Eric Ashley, a former district engineer.

Ashley began as a technician with the Lancaster County

DAVE LEFEVER
Lancaster Farming Staff

WASHINGTON D.C. — Lead negotiators of the House/Senate Farm Bill Conference issued a joint statement Tuesday on a budget funding agreement that may make it possible to finish the Farm Bill in time for this year's growing season.

The statement was issued by Larry Combest (R-Texas), Conference Committee/House Agriculture Committee chairman; Tom Harkin (D-Iowa), Senate Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry chairman; Charlie Stenholm (D-Texas), House Agriculture Committee ranking member; and Richard Lugar (R-Indiana), Senate Agriculture Nutrition and Forestry ranking member.

The statement reads: "Farm Bill negotiators (Tuesday) struck agreement on the needed framework to speed negotiations for early April completion of the House-Senate Conference Report. This framework allows for incorporating the many policy initiatives within the overall $73.5 billion agreed-upon ten-year farm bill budget. Members of Congress on the Conference Committee expect to be positioned to make the final farm bill decisions in public meetings of the Conference the week of April 9."

Representative Tim Holden (D-Pennsylvania), Schuylkill County, is one of 21 conferees appointed to hammer out the final version of the Farm Bill.

Holden said he will back the Senate's Northeast Dairy Program, which would provide significant payments to producers in 12 Northeast states when fluid milk prices fall below $16.94 per hundredweight.

He also supports increased funds for conservation programs, and favors the $275,000 per farm family commodity payment limit found in the Senate bill. The House Bill sets the payment limit at $550,000.

The dairy program, conservation funds, and payment limits are especially important for farmers in Pennsylvania, where "we have a diverse agriculture," Holden said.

Mount Joy Announces Market Opportunity For Farmers

MOUNT JOY (Lancaster Co.) — The Borough of Mount Joy, along with the Mount Joy Area Chamber of Commerce, is starting up an outdoor Saturday farmers' market in Mount Joy Borough for the 2002 growing season.

Vendors selling produce, edible products, fresh flowers, and potted plants will be accepted for the Mount Joy Farmers' Market.

Potential vendors are invited to learn more about the farmers' market at an informational meeting Tuesday, March 26, at 7 p.m. in the Mount Joy Borough office (21 E. Main Street, Mount Joy). Items addressed at the meeting will include the hours of operation, location of the market, rental fees, and the months the market will be open.

Borough personnel and chamber members as well as staff from the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture will be available to answer questions that vendors may have about the Mount Joy Farmers' Market.

For more information or to register for the meeting, call Jennifer Hendricks, at (717) 653-2300.

Correction

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — In an article about the opening of the produce auction in last week's newspaper, we did not correctly identify the date for the opening of Lebanon Produce Auction. The correct opening date is April 16. We apologize for the error.

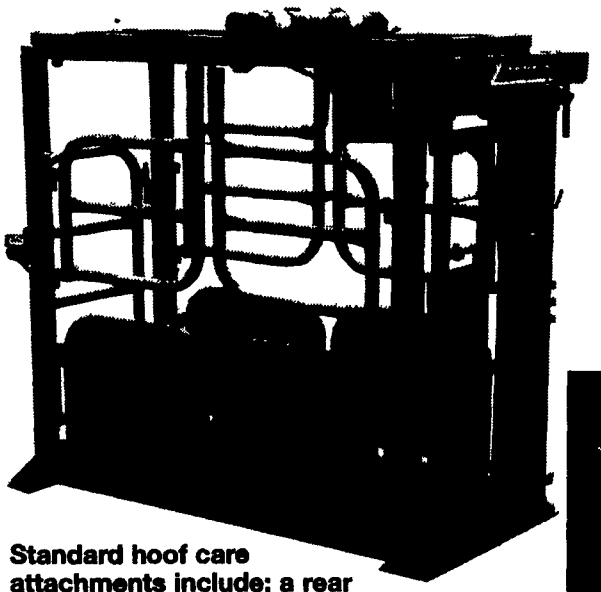
Pa. Holstein Association Spring Show Set

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Holstein Association will conduct its 49th Annual Spring Show Friday, March 29 at the Pennsylvania Farm Show Complex.

Judging will begin at 9:30 a.m. with Michael Stiles of Virginia making the calls on about 300 animals registered for the event.

This showcase for Pennsylvania Holsteins is expected to be one of the largest in the history of the event.

Paul B. Zimmerman INC.



This highly versatile equipment can be used to secure a cow safely and efficiently for foot care or veterinary services.

Side panels and gates easily replace hoof care accessories to create a vet chute where almost any common vet procedure can be performed.

Standard hoof care attachments include; a rear splatter board, rear foot winch, two front foot winches and a full width belly band and winch to lift the animals weight off their feet. All winches have heavy duty friction brakes providing constant, positive holding action.

ALL STEEL PARTS ARE POWDER COATED USING THE PBZ FIVE-STEP PROCESS.

Once in the chute with the belly band winched into working position, the cow is safely secured for foot treatment.

Ethanol Planners

noted. He cautioned planners against letting emotions guide the selection process.

"You have to look at this as a regional project," he said.

Key factors for qualified sites include high corn production in the surrounding area, transportation infrastructure — including a mainline railroad, utilities on the site, availability of low-cost energy, and community support.

BBI also looked at corn production and potential ethanol production throughout the area, and assessed market potential for ethanol and its co-products, dried distiller's grain and carbon dioxide.

Bryan recommended a facility capable of producing 40 million gallons of ethanol per year. About 128,000 tons of dried distiller's grain feed — at 25 percent protein or more — would also be generated.

In a good growing year, corn produced within a 50-mile radius of sites in the eastern part of the study area could supply such a plant, according to the study.

In a bad year, that supply could drop to 20 million gallons or less of ethanol production potential, thereby increasing dependency on corn from the Midwest.

For eastern Pennsylvania, the 25 to 30 cents per bushel above the Chicago Mercantile Exchange price for corn, however, could be offset by strong local markets for both ethanol and dried distiller's grains.

"Can you make an ethanol plant profitable at $2.88 (per bushel) corn when you're competing with $2.60 corn (in the Midwest)?"

Turning corn into more valuable products for nearby consumers should make it possible, according to Bryan.

"It's all about value-added," he said.

A plant producing 40 million gallons of ethanol, 128,000 tons of dried distiller grains, and 96,000 tons of carbon dioxide per year in southcentral Pennsylvania could add $1.60 per bushel — or a total of 22.8 million dollars — to the value of the corn, according to Bryan's figures. Carbon dioxide, the least valuable of the co-products, could be used for beverage carbonation and generate about 9 extra cents per bushel.

The ethanol plant would hire 32 fulltime employees and generate more than $60 million per year, with a total economic impact of about $135 million. Eighty-five percent of that revenue would be spent within a 75-mile radius of the plant, according to the study.

Bryan cited increasing demand for ethanol in the U.S., with some states prohibiting the fuel oxygenate MTBE because of environmental hazards and with U.S. Congress likely to outlaw it.

Unlike MTBE, ethanol is touted as a renewable and environmentally safe fuel oxygenate.

A national Renewable Fuel Standard is also in the works. If passed in Congress, it would require the use of about five billion gallons of ethanol by 2012, according to Bryan.

For the future of ethanol production, it will be important to use sources other than just corn, Bryan said.

Wood from overgrown forests and most of the garbage sent to landfills can also be turned into ethanol, although that technology is still in development to make the process more efficient, he said. Waste beer, fruit juices, and cheese whey are examples of some of the materials being used sucessfully today.

Corn producers and economic development leaders began early last year to investigate the possibility of an ethanol plant in the area.

An ethanol steering committee grew out of that joint interest between area farmers and economic development leaders.

Dan Wolf, Stewartstown-area corn grower and steering committee chairman, said the study is a positive indicator for moving ahead on the project.

"I'm gratified that the numbers (shown in the study results) are about what we expected," Wolf said.

Scott Welsh, an ag economic development specialist, was also hired last fall by the York County Economic Development Corporation to work on the ethanol project and other ag initiatives.

The steering committee and the YCEDC will next focus on business organization and membership, site selection, and further market analyses for the project.

Bryan said that the majority of U.S. ethanol facilities — located mostly in the Upper Midwest — are farmer-owned cooperatives.

The amount of grain that shareholders are required to commit to ethanol production can vary according to the rules of the cooperative. That is one of the questions southcentral Pennsylvania leaders will address as irrigation system to keep the footing dust-free.

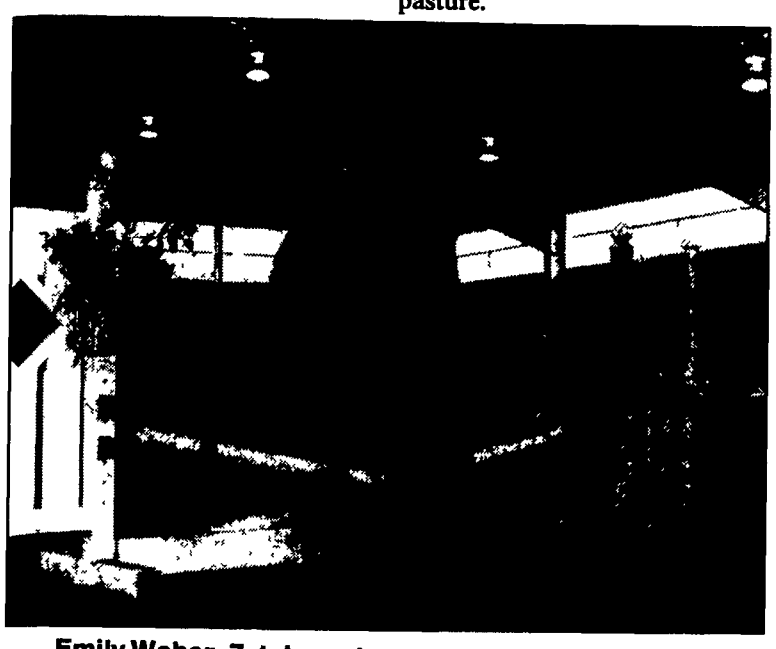
Although D-Bar-W offers lessons with two riding instructors, not everyone boards their horses for lessons purposes, as some opt to ride around the perimeter of the farm, exploring the creeks, woods, and farmland.

Although many of those who board horses are women, younger clients also are attracted to the facility, some exchanging after-school work for lessons.

Full-care boarding includes stalls, once-a-day-turnout, feed, and health care.

Dave harvests 60 acres of hay from the farm for the horses' needs. Another 60 acres are in pasture.



Emily Weber, 7, takes a jump on pony Merrylegs.

His experience around horses has helped him develop a philosophy about their treatment, the "communication" and "work as a team" mentality.

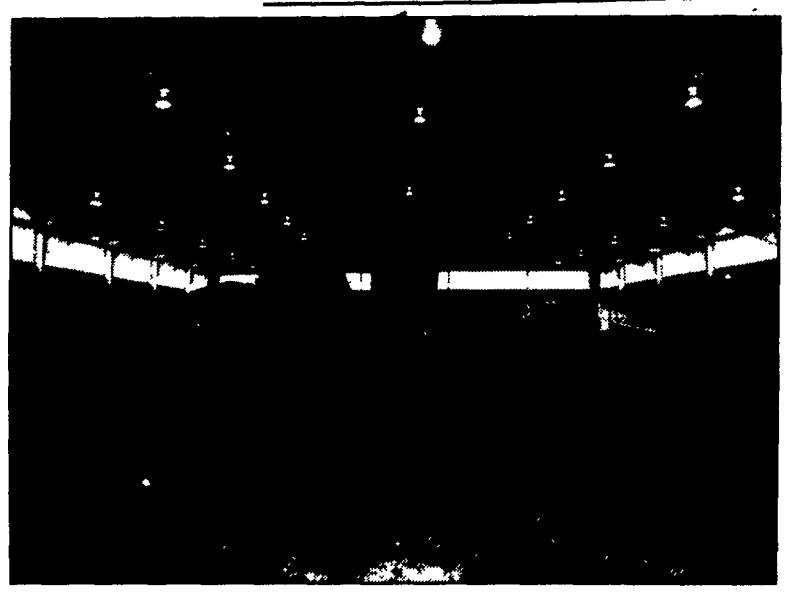
"The difference is the way we communicate to these horses. It's not us against them. The key is to develop a willingness, to bring them along to get them to say yes to everything you want them to do," he said.

His relaxed, patient manner calms the horses and allows them to learn a new mindset. "Upper level horses break apart because they can't handle the mental stresses," he said.

Dave begins training in a round pen in the "training barn" and teaches the horses how to relax as they go back to foundational training ideas.

These beliefs have led to not only high-level dressage and jumping horses coming to the farm from even international sources, but have also kept Dave busy as an instructor.

"Having patience to work with them is probably the big difference. I'll accomplish as much as the horses will allow me to accomplish in that period of time."



The new arena provides riders with an opportunity to enjoy their horse year-round.

Fortunately, the new arena lets him stay home and conduct clinics, besides inviting other authorities in the equestrian business in to conduct clinics.

Dave's parents still live on the farm, and his father helps out with the operation.

The biggest mistake the Webers see is a new owner buying a young horse. "They buy a young one and think they'll learn together," said

Alexandra. "Beginner riders need seasoned horses," he said.

Visit Horse Farms And Learn About Horses During The 10th Annual Horse Farms Open House

Pennsylvania's horse country will be showcased during the upcoming 10th annual Horse Farms Open House.

On April 6 and 7, 22 professional horse farms, most of which are normally off limits to the public, throw open their barn doors and give visitors the chance to learn what goes on behind the scenes. Stables welcome families to learn about foals, take a sample riding lesson, or see horseshoeing demonstration at the various farms. Nationally recognized show barns, breeding stables and local boarding and lesson facilities band together for one weekend only.

The event is free and self-guided, and individuals travel from stable to stable in their own vehicles. The farms will be open to visitors from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and noon to 4 p.m. Sunday. Each year about 10,000 people visit participating farms during the Horse Farms Open House.

Most of the farms are located in the southeastern quadrant of Pennsylvania. This area is horse country, home to many of America's most prestigious equestrian events and to more than 85,000 horses, from Olympic medalists to family pets.

The Horse Farms Open House is a chance for both active and would-be equestrians to visit a variety of professional horse farms, to learn about various breeds and styles of riding, about breeding, raising, caring for and training horses and to explore the many opportunities for getting involved with horses close to home. A number of stables will invite visitors to take a sample riding lesson, trail ride, pony ride or hayride, or to come back at a later date to try one of their horses.

In addition to giving horseback riding a try at some stables, visitors to the Open House can visit a petting zoo, watch an A-rated horse show, or shop at a tack sale. Demonstrations include horseshoeing, jousting, team penning, a drill team, sheep shearing, logging, round pen training and foal imprinting. Nearly every farm will offer refreshments, and a number will have vendors — or their own tack shops — onsite for visitors who want to do a little shopping. April is the heart of foaling season, and many stables will have young foals — more than 60 are expected in all — to enjoy. Visitors will be able to view horses offered for sale and stallions available for breeding.

The stables include breeds and disciplines that bridge the spectrum of the region's horse industry. Visitors can visit farms specializing in thoroughbreds, quarter horses, paints, Arabians, Appaloosas, drafts, American Saddlebreds, Paso Finos, miniatures, and Kentucky Mountain Horses.

With more than 200,000 horses, Pennsylvania's equine industry is a $5 billion a year industry, according to former Governor Tom Ridge. Most of that industry is clustered in the southeastern quadrant of the state, where the open house is centered.

Complete information on the farms, including maps and directions, will be on the web at www.pennsylvaniaequestrian-.com.

The Open House is free. For more information phone (717) 898-5874.

Ripley Named New World Dairy Expo President

MADISON, Wis. — Roger Ripley was elected president of World Dairy Expo, Inc.'s board of directors at the recent annual meeting. Ripley is the fourth president in the show's 36-year history.

The World Dairy Expo board of directors meets three times annually to coordinate and oversee the production of the global dairy industry event. More than 65,000 producers and dairy industry enthusiasts are expected for this year's World Dairy Expo Oct. 2-6 at the Alliant Energy Center in Madison.

Ripley, president and CEO of Accelerated Genetics in Baraboo, Wis., served on the board for the past 17 years. He has been serving as vice-president since 1991. Accelerated Genetics is one of the original organizations who donated money to help form World Dairy Expo, Inc., gaining permanent representation on Expo's board of directors. Ripley is an active industry leader in many agricultural organizations and university efforts. A facilitator, organizer, and motivator, his leadership earned him the recognition as World Dairy Expo's Industry Person of the Year in 1999. His fellow peers and board members elected him to serve as president.

Since 1969, Gregory Blaska of Sun Prairie, Wis., has been serving on World Dairy Expo's board of directors. Every year for the past 31 years, his fellow peers and board members elected him to serve as president. His vision and leadership skills have focused on the financial strength and growth of the event. This growth has been tremendous in cattle show strength and numbers, quantity and diversity of the commercial exhibits, and education seminars and farm tour programs. He has also overseen Expo's involvement in the expansion of the Alliant Energy Center's facilities, including the new barn and the Exhibition Hall.

Blaska will continue to serve as a director on the board, representing Foremost Farms USA.

The board of directors also approved a shift in show days starting with the 2003 World Dairy Expo. A joint committee of commercial exhibitors and dairy cattle exhibitors made a recommendation that the 2003 event run Tuesday through Saturday versus the current Wednesday through Sunday. Commercial exhibitors will move-in the preceding Saturday through Monday. The Holstein cow show will remain on Saturday, followed with the supreme champion selection early Saturday evening. Other show schedule details will be finalized in the upcoming months. The last time World Dairy Expo changed show days was in 1973 when the event was reduced from 10 to the current five days.

World Dairy Expo is an international trade and cattle show for dairy producers. Last year, 62,705 visitors from 66 countries attended the show. For more information about this year's show contact World Dairy Expo at (608) 224-6455 or go online at www.worlddairyexpo.com.

Dairy Management Seminar In Spanish Scheduled At World Dairy Expo

MADISON, Wis. — Producers with Spanish speaking employees can take advantage of topnotch dairy herd management training for their employees as part of the fifth International Dairy Short Course held in conjunction with World Dairy Expo.

The Babcock Institute at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, in partnership with World Dairy Expo, coordinates this four-day program. The seminar is sponsored by Hoard's Dairyman En Espanol.

Focusing on dairy herd management, the program will take place Sept. 29 to Oct. 2 at the UW-Madison campus and the Madison Concourse Hotel. The short course precedes World Dairy Expo, which is Oct. 2-6 at the Alliant Energy Center in Madison.

The International Dairy Short Course will be presented in English with concurrent Spanish language translations. This educational event is intended as an opportunity for international dairy producers, veterinarians, and agribusiness professionals. It's also an opportunity for U.S. producers to offer their Spanish speaking employees focused training. Seminar topics will cover the basics of nutrition, reproduction, management, and silage preservation along with workshops on ration balancing, dairy cattle judging, and milking machine performance. There will also be tours to different types of dairy cattle operations.

Registration for this special program is $350 before July 10. The registration fee includes the opening reception on Sunday, Sept. 30, and breakfast and lunch Monday, Oct. 1 through Wednesday, Oct. 3. The fee also includes transportation to the university campus and farm visits, educational materials, and proceedings printed in English or Spanish. Hotel lodging costs are not included.

For complete registration and International Dairy Short Course details, contact World Dairy Expo at (608) 224-6455 or go online at http://www.worlddairyexpo.com/sem.ids.cfm. You can also register securely online.

they develop a business plan for the project.

According to Welsh, financers typically like to see members of the cooperative commit 50 percent or more of their corn crop to this kind of enterprise.

The YCEDC is continuing to work with BBI on a more detailed market analysis for the project, with results expected in about two months, Welsh said.

Russ Montgomery, president of the YCEDC, said that it will likely take a year and a half to two years to have an ethanol facility.

PA BEEF EXPOSITION 2002

MARCH 28 TO MARCH 30
AT THE
PENN STATE AG ARENA

PENNSYLVANIA CATTLEMEN'S ASSOCIATION PCA

Cassandra and Herman Hake will take "Red" and "Charlie" to State College to compete in the upcoming Expo.

Beef Expo.

And again the Hake family, Hake Valley Farm, will travel to State College, taking friends and family from York County with them in a long caravan of trailers, trucks, cattle, and equipment.

"We have a meeting place and follow everybody to watch for problems," she said.

Delbert and Barbara Hake have taken their children, Cassandra and Herman, to compete at the Beef Expo for five years. They are now joined by a large group of competitors who travel together on a show circuit. Often their trailer may be cleared of equipment to make room for others' cattle, said Barbara. "We drive at the end to make sure there are no problems," she said.

Barbara is also a co-leader of the county's beef club and is working to coordinate the students' participation in the beef Skillathon and beef quiz bowl. York County is sending 14 Beef Bowl and Skillathon participants this year. "It's good to have participation from people in the county," she said.

The Hakes have also taken their animals to York County's 4-H Center in the springtime for showmanship clinics for beginning 4-Hers.

The York County group goes to approximately 13 different shows and fairs from northern Pennsylvania to Virginia.

Cassandra, 20, has now graduated to "junior breeder" status but plans to keep her heifers to breed and sell club calves.

Herman, a senior at Red Land High School, plans to continue competing with 4-H.

The Hakes, who house their cattle on eight acres in the Etters area, have three steers and two heifers which they are readying for the show ring.

The right time and the right place combined to get the family into the beef business. Delbert, who grew up on a dairy farm, happened to be at his former FFA teachers' home when a steer calf was born — the calf that helped Cassandra, then nine years old, decide to give 4-H and the livestock club a try. "Buddy" became a family favorite and, although she cried when he left, served to ready her for competition the following year.

Her brother, two years her junior, received a calf for a Christmas present when he was old enough to participate in 4-H.

"When we first started with Cassandra, we thought this was a one-or-two-year deal," said Delbert. "but they've stuck with it. It's a good experience and they enjoy doing it," he said.

The excitement of the show ring, of "seeing how I place" is one of Cassandra's favorite aspects of the Beef Expo. She also enjoys fitting cattle, an interest that has led her to a working as a professional dog groomer at a nearby business.

A lot of people and good competition combine to make the Beef Expo a draw, said Barbara.

The expo is an idea place to get your animal used to being shown before previous shows which start in late spring, say the Hakes.

Herman has participated in the livestock judging club for five years. This has allowed him to meet 4-Hers from across the state and has proven to be useful as he chooses his own show animals.

One of Herman's most memorable beef Expo moments was

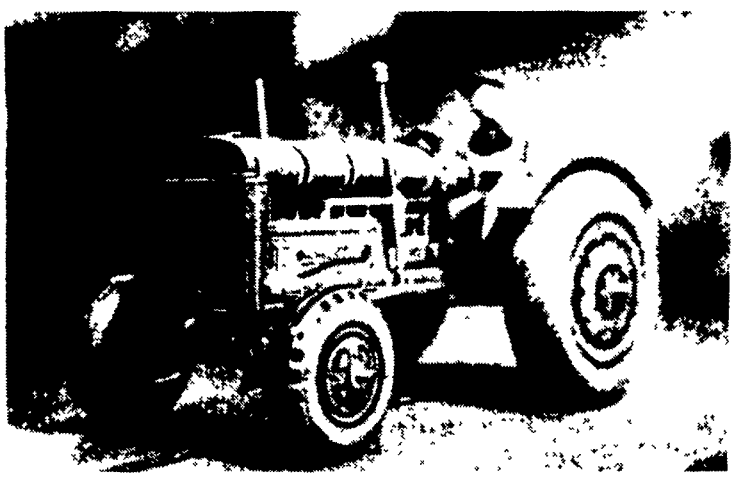
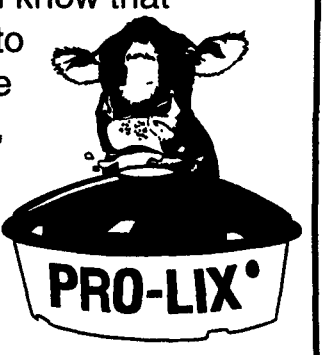
MAKES IT MORE VALUABLE TOMORROW.



Take cattle supplements. Some cattlemen are guilty of waiting too long to supplement their cattle. The simple truth is it's more expensive to feed cattle to gain weight back than it is to maintain their body condition. Enter PRO-LIX® liquid supplements. You know the name, but did you know that PRO-LIX is actually priced delivered and fed to your herd? If you're looking for a cost-effective supplement to help increase your bottom line, isn't it obvious which product to look for?



Call to find out how easy it is to get PRO-LIX in your feeders.

helping to chase a heifer several miles until finding her among a herd of dairy cows.

He is joined by cousin Richard Heineman, 16, who not only participates in livestock judging but also exhibits cattle and will take 750-pound "Rhino" and 790-pound "Turtle" to the upcoming Beef Expo.

Richard, Red Rock Farm, is supported by his parents, Robert and Laura Heineman. Although his father did not grow up in the beef industry, he is quickly learning the business as he helps Richard with his cattle. The family has recently finished a barn to house three show steers.

A sophomore at Red Land High School, Richard also travels to approximately 13 shows with the Hake family. He is moving into his fourth year in the show ring and is also planning to participate in the Beef Bowl and Skillathon.

Top competition with other cattle, along with "seeing how good you are for the rest of the year," are two reasons the expo is important to attend, he said.

Also observing what other people are doing is also a valuable experience, according to Richard.

"The competition is tougher — if you do well in that show you know you did well because it's a quality show," said Robert.

Richard was given a calf while he helped at his uncle's farm one day, a calf he paid for after the show season, and he has continued to enjoy raising and has shown cattle ever since.

"He (Richard) was so little we couldn't see him over the steer," said Robert.

That first calf, "Black Jack," stayed in his cousins' barn since he then lived in a development. The family has since moved into a home with enough land for a barn.

As Richard looks to major in civil engineering and move onto college, his father plans to keep cattle at the farm.

Cassandra, Herman, and Richard have all been class winners at the expo but are looking for a higher placing this year in competition.

All three also plan to participate in the Beef Quiz Bowl and the Beef Skillathon.

The Beef Quiz Bowl, which will be conducted Thursday afternoon, takes a team of four competitors. The first part is a series of questions directed to each individual team member. The second part is 16 questions where teams "buzz in" quickly

(Turn to Page 45)

PA BEEF EXPOSITION 2002

March 28 - 30,
At The Penn State Ag Arena

Pennsylvania Beef Expo Begins March 28

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Junior Cattlemen's Association (PICA) will hold their 121h Annual Junior Steer and Heifer Preview Show at the 131h Annual Pennsylvania Beef Expo, March 28-30, at the Penn State Ag Arena, State College. The Expo is an excellent opportunity for PICA members to exhibit their animals in a weekend of fun and education.

Special educational demonstrations, exhibits and talks will be given on Thursday afternoon, March 28.

Since its creation in 1988, the PA Beef Expo has expanded to include activities targeted at both Junior and Senior cattlemen. This year's Expo begins with the PCA Awards Banquet and Annual Meeting, scheduled for Thursday, March 28, 2002 at Celebrations Hall, near the Nittany Mall, in State College.

Festivities with begin with a reception at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7 p.m. The association will recognize cattle producers with several awards including the Industry Service Award, Commercial Cattleman, Seedstock Breeder and Cattle Feeder of the Year.

One farm will be recognized with the Stewardship Award for dedication to preserving agriculture and the environment for future generations.

Other banquet highlights include announcement of the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Beef Ambassadors.

Banquet reservations can be made by calling or faxing the PCA office at (814) 238-5888 or by email at llw@psu.edu.

Bull Performance Test Results

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pa. Dept. of Agriculture Livestock Evaluation Center wishes to announce plans are being finalized for Pa.'s 29th annual Performance Tested Bull Sale scheduled for Friday, March 29 at 11 a.m. There will be 68 performance tested bulls offered for sale.

Forty-eight Angus, three of which are red, 16 Simmentals, two Polled Herefords, one Charolais and one Limousin.

These bulls completed the 112-day testing program, had average daily gains and ratios calculated. The adjusted 365-day weights and lifetime weight per day ages were calculated as well as yearling heights and frame scores. The bulls were all scanned ultrasonically to determine loin-eye area and fat thickness as well as percentage intramuscular fat (marbling ability). The bulls have undergone a comprehensive breeding soundness exam, including semen collection, scrotal circumference and pelvic measurements.

The top-indexing Angus bull will lead off the sale as Lot#1. This P.S. Traveler 351 614 son is owned by Marlin and Steve Paul. The sire of this bull also sired the previous two years' high-indexing Angus bulls and the sire was himself a previous top performing Angus bull purchased through a previous Pa. Performance Tested Bull Sale. This scenario is an excellent example of predictable genetic performance.

The second highest indexing Angus is a GDAR SVF Traveler 234D son owned by South Branch Farm. The third highest indexing Angus and the fastest gaining bull of all breeds is the DHD Traveler 6807 son owned by Mountain Edge Farm. The E.T. bull recorded an average daily gain of 4.97 pounds per day through the 112-day test and is moderate framed.

The top-indexing Charolais is a smooth polled, frame seven bull consigned by Ray Bratton.

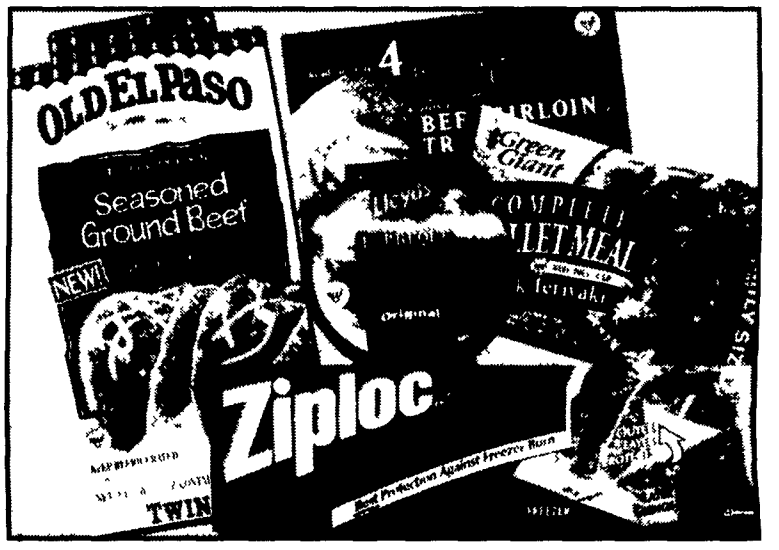
The top-indexing Simmental was the fullblood son of WLSF Rhomula consigned by Harold Simms. This bull gained 4.38 pounds per day and recorded the top adjusted 365-day weight of 1,352 pounds among the Simmentals. The second highest indexing Simmental is the black, polled, E.T. son of LRS Preferred Stock 370C, owned by Haven Woods Farm. This bull was the top gaining Simmental, gaining 4.47 pounds per day. The third highest indexing Simmental is also owned by Haven Woods Farm and is sired by WAR Dynamite 620 who was the sire of the top-indexing and record breaking, gaining, Simmental in last year's sale.

The top indexing Hereford is the Circle-D 832W Einstn 28E son consigned by Twin Ponds Farm. The second highest indexing Hereford is the Ralph Strouse owned Will Via Headline 5133 son.

The last bull in the offering is the top-indexing Limousin. This red, smooth polled, son of Cole Jay gained 4.15 pounds per day on test and scanned with the largest loin-eye overall of 18.9 square inches.

The bull sale is a central component of the 13th annual Pa. Beef Expo which will include educational programs and exhibits, a Simmental and Shorthorn female sale, a trade show and a large junior steer and heifer show and lots of good food.

For more information about the Bull Sale, or Beef Expo, contact Glenn Eberly, Livestock Evaluation Center, 651 Fox Hollow Road, State College, PA 16803; phone (814) 238-2527, phone/fax (814) 865-5857; e-mail: geberly@state.pa.us or geberly@psu.edu.



Twelve companies now carry the beef Mark of Quality symbol on nearly 60 individual beef, or beef related, products. Approved products can use the Mark of Quality on product packaging and in their marketing and promotional efforts.

BEEF TIPS

Study on Bulls (2)

The American Simmental Association has the only genetic evaluation and EPDs for meat tenderness. Studies, continuing even now, involved the greatest and most often used Simmental sires. Simmental breeders can now tell you what tenderness you can expect to find with steers sired by many of the most popular Simmental sires. Another reason to use a Simmental bull on your herd. PA-BQA Accomplishments, Goals

MIDDLETOWN (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Beef Quality Assurance (BQA) program has accomplished a great deal in the past year. The program was created to increase consumer confidence in beef by training and certifying beef and dairy producers in best management practices. Below is a timeline, showing the accomplishments and future goals of the PA-BQA program.

August 2001 — Set up a series of focus groups in State College to connect with consumers. Targeted women between 25-54 to examine purchasing habits and choices they make at the meat case.

September 2001 to February 2002 — More than 1,000 BQA manuals distributed at training sessions and other BQA events.

September 2001 to February 2002 — News releases sent to 13 Pennsylvania agricultural newspapers regarding the classroom and chute side training.

December 2001 - February 2002 — Four hundred 2X3-foot posters printed with BQA, PDA, PBC and PCA logos including contact information being placed in veterinary clinics, feed stores, extensions offices, and auction markets to build PA-BQA awareness.

February 2002 - Survey conducted in eight grocery retail stores by team of PSU students to identify influences on purchasing choices.

February - June 2002 — One hundred 8X4-foot billboards created and being distributed to each of 60 extension offices statewide for placement in highly visible and high traffic areas to increase consumer awareness. Remaining inventory to be distributed by PCA and PBC to areas having high visibility.

April 2002 — Website will be available for producers to take Phase I of their training without attending a classroom session.

April 2002 — BQA packaging label evaluation and selection designed to be more consumer friendly and effectively pull BQA beef through marketing channels.

May - June 2002 — Brochure designed providing consumer awareness message in user friendly terminology. News releases to major PA press announcing availability of brochure.

May - June 2002 — Consumer Awareness Media Campaign to purchase TV, radio and print news.

June 2002 — Point-of-Purchase brochures in the meat case area at retail stores.

June 2002 — Re-certification component to be added to the BQA Training Program.

April-June 2002 — Amendments and review of the manual and BQA program to study the need to add further components to the PA-BQA program.

For more information, please call the Pennsylvania Beef Council office at (717) 939-7000.

PCA Awards Banquet Scheduled

STATE COLLEGE — The Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association Awards Banquet has been scheduled for Thursday, March 28, at the Celebrations Hall, near the Nittany Mall, State College.

The festivities will begin with a social hour at 6:30 p.m., followed by a prime rib dinner at 7 p.m. Cattle producers will be recognized for several awards including the Industry Service Award, Commercial Cattleman, Seedstock Breeder, and Cattle Feeder of the Year. One farm will also be recognized with the Environmental Stewardship Award for its dedication to preserving agriculture and the environment.

In addition, the 2002 Cattlemen' s Beef Ambassadors will be announced, and the final Beef Quiz Bowl competitions will be conducted. There will also be special award presentations by organizations affiliated with PCA.

Banquet reservations should be made by March 21 by calling or faxing the PCA office at (814) 238-5888 or emailing llw@l2su.edu. More information is also available on the PCA website at www.pacattle.org.

The PCA Annual Meeting will be held in conjunction with the awards banquet. New directors will be elected at this time. Please forward any nominations for the PCA Board of Directors to the PCA Office, 862 Webster Drive, State College, PA, 16801. Nominees must be members of PCA.

The PCA Awards Banquet will kick off the 2002 Pennsylvania Beef Expo which includes the trade show, performance-tested bull sale, purebred female sales, and several junior events including the beef skill-a-thon, beef quiz bowl, and large heifer and steer shows.

Sometimes You Need a Spreader Built Like A Tank

When spreading stockpiled lime, for example. The Stoltzfus Wet Lime Spreader is likely the most powerful spreader of its kind on the market today. You see, we've been building them since 1945, and farmers are still using Stoltzfus Wet Lime Spreaders they've had for 20, even 30 years. Our special drag chain is 4 times stronger than stainless steel, and handles frozen and heavy stockpiled lime with ease. Plus for spreading compost, composted sludge, poultry litter and certain fertilizers, the WLS is without equal for sheer volume spreading.

Cut your fertilizer bill by liberating nutrients tied up by acid soil.

Use Lime.

Creating Consumer Convenience Through Supermarket, Restaurant Efforts

DENVER, Colo. — In recent years the beef industry has focused not only on making beef more convenient for consumers, but also for restaurateurs and grocers.

"Beef producers, through their industry checkoff program, have sought to improve efficiency in retail and restaurant marketing efforts," said Lisa Hefner, a beef producer from Oklahoma and vice chair of the beef industry's Joint Foodservice Committee. "Making beef easier to merchandise or feature in supermarkets and restaurants should ultimately help to increase beef demand."

Beef producers saw the need to make changes in order to fill the needs of their changing markets. The beef industry has already been focused on convenience and the ease of preparation of beef products to better fit the needs of today's busy consumers and working moms. Just four years ago heat-and-serve beef entrees were almost unheard of, yet today 61 percent of supermarkets in the U.S. have a convenience section in the fresh meat case.

Retail

The industry is now taking its convenience work a step further. The checkoff-funded Beef Made Easy program is aimed at simplifying shopping and increasing sales by reorganizing the beef section of the meat case, making it easier for busy moms to choose beef. Since the program began in 1999 beef sales in test stores have increased 3.5 percent. Today nearly 12,000 stores are using the Beef Made Easy program.

Expanding technology within retail operations is also part of the checkoff-funded convenience focus. Bar coding initially wasn't feasible for random weight items like meat, but with Uniform Retail Meat Identity Standards the industry had common nationwide terminology for different cuts. With these names and improved scanning technology, the industry could produce Universal Product Codes for various beef products, which in turn led to "Value-Based Meat Management."

This program provides information about better ways of valuing and pricing beef cuts, and tracking sales. The beef industry pioneered the use of consumer videos at the meat case with "Meat Features." This effort gives consumers assistance in making shopping decisions by showing video clips in the meat department of the supermarket. The clips show consumers how to select and prepare meat cuts to best fit their desired outcomes in the most convenient ways possible.

Foodservice

The foodservice market accounts for 40 percent of all beef consumption nationwide. With this in mind the beef industry has targeted key restaurateurs in the $370 billion-per-year foodservice industry.

Marketing efforts are letting the operators know that they too, can save time, labor and money in the kitchen by incorporating new value-added beef items into their menus. These entrees offer consumers new beef dining options while remaining moderately priced.

"The beef industry continues to explore ways to improve retail and restaurant marketing," said Hefner. "The primary objective of our promotion programs is to increase beef's share on menus and in meat cases, as well as to build overall beef eating frequency. This, in turn, will help meet consumer demand for delicious

Expo Includes Trade Show, Contests, Junior Shows

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The 131h Annual Pennsylvania Beef Expo will be conducted March 28-30 at the Penn State Ag Arena, State College. Activities include the following:

Tradeshow

March 30 will kick off the beginning of the Beef Expo Trade Show. The three-day trade show is an excellent opportunity to visit and ask questions of equipment and pharmaceutical companies, as well as show supply, feed, and specialty exhibitors. Once again the trade show will also feature various displays of different beef breeds.

Skillathon, Quiz Bowl

Once again, this year's Beef Expo will provide juniors with an opportunity to test their knowledge at the annual Beef Expo Skillathon and Beef Expo Quiz Bowl.

This year's Beef Skillathon will be held Friday, March 29 from 8-10 a.m. at the Penn State Meats Laboratory, University Park. The Skillathon is an excellent opportunity for young beef enthusiasts to test their beef industry knowledge.

By incorporating project skills and industry basics in a series of mini-learning stations participants compete in areas such as identification of beef breeds, retail cuts, feed ingredients and feed safety. Divisions for the Skillathon include senior (16-21), intermediate (12-15), and junior (8-11).

The Beef Expo Quiz Bowl will also take place on Thursday, March 28, beginning with preliminaries at 3 p.m. Any teams of four PICA, 4-H or FFA members are invited to compete.

The competition will be divided into two divisions: 14 to 21 year olds (seniors) and 8 to 13 year olds (juniors). Primary Quiz Bowl topics will include nutrition, genetics, reproduction, animal health, marketing and promotion, and cattle breeds.

The final Quiz Bowl competition will be at the annual PCA Awards Banquet to be conducted Thursday evening, March 28.

The Beef Skillathon and Quiz Bowl competitions are open to all PICA, 4-H and FFA members. Individuals can join the PICA for a $5 annual membership fee at the contest site. Four-member PICA county, club or school teams in any division also are invited to participate.

For more information contact Liz Smith at (717) 336-0553.

Junior Shows

This year's Pennsylvania Beef Expo Heifer Show will be conducted Sat. March 30 at 8 a.m. and will sport more than seven different beef cattle breeds.

All heifers born between September 2000 and October 2001 are eligible for the show. The Junior Steer Show is scheduled for Saturday, March 30 following the conclusion of the heifer show. Light, middle, and heavy weight division champions with compete for grand champion laurels. The final showmanship competition will follow the steer show on Saturday.

There will be no Expo events held on Easter Sunday, March 31. More information is available from Elizabeth Smith (717-336-0553), the PCA office (814-238-5888-phone/fax), e-mail llw@psu.edu or on the PCA website: www.pacattle.org.

to answer the question. This year, the finals of the quiz bowl will take place during Thursday evening's Cattlemen's Award Banquet.

The Skillathon includes a series of stations with facilitators at each station. They allow participants to test their identification skill in such areas as beef breeds, retail cuts, and feed ingredients. Facilitators also test participants on quality assurance practices, food safety, EPD Evaluations, and management decisions. Each station takes 5-10 minutes.

The event will take place Friday morning at the Penn State meats lab.

Preparing the cattle for the show ring entails walks not only in the pasture but also along the road.

NASS Agriculture Counts

By Marc Tosiano
Pa. State Statistician

Editor's Note: This is a monthly column from the Pennsylvania Ag Statistics Service (PASS), a field office of USDA's National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS) in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture (PDA). The Website is www.usda.gov/nass/.

MAPLE COUNTS TOO!

In 2001, Pennsylvania sugarmakers produced 69,000 gallons of maple syrup, which was 47 percent more than the 47,000 gallons made in 2000. The 2001 crop was valued at $1.8 million in 2001 compared to $1.3 million in 2000.

With the current drought conditions, the 2002 crop is a subject for much discussion. The annual Maple Syrup survey will replace speculation with actual measurements of the 2002 maple crop.

The national survey is done at the request of the North American Maple Syrup Council and supported by all state members of the council. The survey is sent to all known maple producers in Pennsylvania and to producers in the other nine major producing states.

The survey asks for this year's tap numbers and syrup production and prices received for last year's crop. Maple production is published along with the average prices by container size for retail, wholesale, and bulk sales. The results of the Maple Syrup survey will be published in the June issue of the Crop Production report on June 12, 2002. For previous maple statistics, search for "Maple syrup" in the commodity list at www.usda.gov/nass/search.htm.

To Sugarmakers

In Pennsylvania, surveys are being mailed to all known producers twice, in early and late April. A prompt reply by mail will eliminate the need to bother you with a telephone call in May.

As with all NASS surveys, federal law protects the confidentiality of your individual information. Your answers to the survey cannot be disclosed to anyone, public or private. Your individual data are even exempt from disclosure under the Freedom of Information Act.

Most producers cooperate with the survey. Your help allows us to publish timely and accurate measures of the maple industry. Thank you, in advance!

2001 Trout Summary
Published Feb. 28

Pennsylvania 2001 trout production ranks fourth in the nation based on the value of trout sold. Pennsylvania sales account for 6.9 percent of national trout sales. Only Idaho, North Carolina, and California had more trout sales.

Thank you to all the producers that helped us with your response to the annual trout survey conducted every January. The survey contacted all known producers and hatcheries.

Pennsylvania's 60 commercial trout growers sold 1.88 million pounds of trout, valued at $4.89 million during 2001. This was down from the 2.01 million pounds valued at $5.44 million sold in 2000.

Pennsylvania ranks first in the nation for the value of trout distributed for conservation and recreational purposes. With a value of $10.8 million, Pennsylvania accounts for 16.6 percent of the nation's distributed trout. This includes trout released by state hatcheries, cooperative nurseries, and private fishing clubs.

The complete report includes statistics for the 20 major trout producing states. The tables include trout sales by size of fish, first point of sale by size of fish, trout loses by reason for loss, distributed trout by size of fish, and trout eggs both sold and distributed.

For the complete Trout report, search for "Trout" in the commodity list at www.usda.gov/nass/search.htm.

Published Feb. 28

Honey statistics are compiled for producers with five or more colonies. Thank you to all the producers that helped us with your response to the annual honey survey conducted every December. The survey contacted all large producers and a sample of smaller honey operations.

Pennsylvania honey production in 2001 totaled 969,000 pounds, down 2 percent from 2000. This honey was pulled from 17,000 colonies statewide, down 5,000 from last year. The average yield was 57 pounds per colony, compared to 45 pounds in 2000.

Total Pennsylvania stocks of honey, as of December 15, 2001, were 514,000 pounds, 7 percent less than the previous year.

Pennsylvania honey producers received an average price of 87 cents per pound, compared to 76 cents last year. Nationwide, there were 2.51 million colonies producing honey in 2001. National honey production totaled 186 million pounds, down 16 percent from last year. Yield per colony averaged 74.0 pounds, compared to 84.1 pounds last year.

National producer honey stocks were 64.8 million pounds on Dec. 15, 2001, down 24 percent from a year earlier. Prices for the 2001 U.S. honey crop averaged 66.9 cents per pound, compared to 59.7 cents last year.

For the complete Honey report, search for "Honey" in the commodity list at www.usda.gov/nass/search.htm.

Minnesota Farmer Elected NFU President

IRVING, Texas — Delegates to the National Farmers Union 100th anniversary convention elected Dave Frederickson as the organization's 12th president.

A fourth-generation family farmer from Murdock, Minn., Frederickson is leaving his post of 11 years as Minnesota Farmers Union president to represent fellow farmers from across the nation as leader of the national organization. Frederickson, who celebrated his 58th birthday during the convention, is a former educator and state senator.

Frederickson said the first priority of his two-year term is getting a good farm bill passed out of conference committee that addresses depressed commodity prices and increasing concentration in agricultural markets.

"Farmers Union has worked hard throughout the House and Senate farm bill process, and we have much more work ahead of us," he said. "Let's go back to Washington and work for a farm bill so that when you go back into your fields you will know what kind of support you have behind you," he told more than 1,000 farmers and ranchers in attendance.

He was opposed in the race by Terry Detrick, an Ames, Okla., farmer currently serving as his state's Farmers Union vice president. Following the vote announcement, Detrick removed a "peace dove" pin from his own lapel and presented it to the newly-elected national president in a gesture of support.

Plant MARA Perennial Ryegrass for grazing or balage.

Mara is a very winter hardy diploid ryegrass from Romania where summers are hot and quite dry and winters very cold.

Mara is proving itself better adapted to the Mid-Atlantic region than most perennial ryegrasses. Mara offers: rapid establishment, excellent feed value, late maturity (May 20-25 to boot stage in Lanc. Co.) good heat tolerance, high yields, great stand density, good palatability.

For pasture we recommend seeding Alice White and Cyclone Red Clover along with the ryegrass.

MARA IS NOW THE MAJOR COMPONENT OF OUR POPULAR BG 34 RYEGRASS BLEND.

MARA #1 in University of Kentucky horse grazing trial for yield and percent ground cover. This trial included fescues, bluegrass, orchardgrass, festuloliums and other ryegrasses.

Notice "Daisy" in the early-maturing stemmy pasture is skinny while the cow grazing BG23 Plus is nice and fat

Easter Brunch Served With Style

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family
Features Editor

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — Do you admire all those scrumptious meals photographed in magazines and wish you could duplicate them?

Well, you can. With a few pointers and tips from Judy Mentzer, food stylist, and her assistant Barbara Shenk, home economist, you can provide the picture-perfect brunch for family and guests.

Mentzer has been instrumental in many of the fabulous photos that appear advertising Campbell's Soup, Pfaltzgraff calendars, and advertisements for Four Seasons Hotel and other corporations.

Mentzer and Shenk recently combined their talents to prepare an Easter Brunch that Lancaster Farming readers can duplicate.

Start with a tablecloth and a flower arrangement that coordinates with your china.

Shenk selected a white cloth to show off her heirloom Bavarian china. You don't need to spend a fortune for flowers. In this example, primroses in three colors that picked up the pattern from the china were used. Place the potted plants in containers you have around the house. Non-matching containers are trendy and allow originality. Mentzer also selected a birdhouse used as an accessory in another room. The birdhouse added height.

"Different elevations create presentation interest," Mentzer said.

If you are lucky enough to have cut flowers, increase their longevity by using Shenk's homemade Flower Fresh formula: To each quart of water, add 1-2 drops Clorax (to kill bacteria), 1-2 drops lemon juice or 1 aspirin (to keep stems open), and 2 teaspoons sugar (food for the flowers).

Make good food taste even better by presenting it in an eye-appealing style. For example, the coffee cake in the photograph could have easily been placed on a round plate on a cake pedestal. Placing it on a platter allows room for garnishing with mint leaves and fresh flowers.

Here's a hidden tip: Placing the cake on the platter caused it to sag in the middle. The stylists build up the middle of the cake by placing folded paper towels beneath the paper doily. Or, you can use foil covered cardboard cut to fit.

"Improvise," is a requirement for Mentzer who said food stylists must "think on their feet," because of many things that don't turn out as expected.

"No day is the same for a food stylist. Each day is filled with variety and creativity," Shenk said.

Not all food styling done for magazines is suitable for real-life eating. For example, if a piece of cake falls off during a photo shoot, Mentzer may use Crazy glue to restore it or Vaseline to hold in place. Although those tips are never conducive to eating, frosting can work as an edible glue.

There are many different ways to set a buffet, but Mentzer recommends that the large plates be placed at the beginning of the buffet line so that guests can fill their plates as they walk along the table. Do not place serving dishes close to the table edge. Allow room for guests to set down their plates when dishing up food.

Food stylist Judy Mentzer, right, and assistant Barbara Shenk show how attractive table settings can be arranged by using items from your home and garden. Food is arranged in different heights to add interesting depth to the dessert buffet. A separate table featuring hot items with the main course makes it easier to serve guests.

Arrange food in the order it should be served. Food served on a buffet should not require a lot of cutting.

Place the silverware, napkins, and beverages at the end of the buffet line so that guests don't need to balance so many different items while dishing up at the buffet.

Another tip to dress up a plain-looking coffeecake is to place a paper doily on top and sift confectioners' sugar. Remove the doily and the design remains.

To dress up meat dishes, Mentzer often accents them with figs, wedges of orange yams and acorn squash, and green beans. Other favorites are sickle pears, plums, Lady apples, and kale, red-skinned potatoes, Brussels sprouts, sage, tansy, and other in-season herbs. Serve unpeeled, steamed apple slice with boneless pork chops and savory cabbage leaves.

Mentzer, a home economist, attained experience working in Campbell's Soup test kitchens. She attends conferences for culinary professionals where well-known chefs such as Julia Child teach.

Most food pictures are done in photography studios with special lighting set up for food displays.

Keeping a buffet simple, not complicated, but delicious and eye-appealing is the goal.

BREAKFAST CASSEROLE

1 pound bacon
6 eggs
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1½ cups shredded cheddar cheese
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
6 slices bread

Brown bacon. Drain, cool, and break into bite-sized pieces. Beat eggs and milk. Stir in bacon and remaining ingredients except bread. Pour into rectangular 9X13X2-inch pan. Tear bread into bite-sized pieces. Stir into egg mixture. Cover with foil and refrigerate overnight. Bake in an unpreheated 350 degree oven for 55 minutes.

GOURMET CHEESE POTATOES

9 medium potatoes
2 cups shredded cheddar cheese
¼ cup butter
1½ cup sour cream (or one cup milk)
⅓ cup finely-chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons butter
paprika

Cook potatoes in skin. Cool slightly and peel using a paring knife. Shred coarsely on a four-sided grater.

In saucepan, over low heat, combine ¼ cup butter and shredded cheese. Stir until melted.

Remove from heat. Blend in onion, sour cream, and seasonings. Fold into potatoes and put in greased 13X9X2-inch casserole pan. Dot with two tablespoons butter. Sprinkle with paprika.

Bake in 350-degree oven, 30 minutes or until heated thoroughly.

Casserole may be prepared a day before and refrigerated. Sprinkle with paprika just before baking.

CREAMY POTATO CASSEROLE

9 medium baking potatoes (or equivalent amount of frozen shredded potatoes)
1 stick butter
1½ cups sour cream
4 chopped green onions
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
green onion fan

Cover potatoes with salted water and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and cook about 30 minutes or until tender. Cool slightly; peel and coarsely shred potatoes.

Combine potatoes and next five ingredients; stir well. Spoon potato mixture into a greased 9X13X2 inch casserole pan. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Garnish with green onion fan. Yield: 10 servings.

CITRUS EYE-OPENER

12-ounce can frozen orange juice concentrate
6-ounce can frozen lemonade concentrate
1½ cups cold water
1-liter bottle carbonated water, chilled ice cubes
orange slices, halved (optional)

In a large container combine orange juice concentrate, lemonade concentrate, and water.

Just before serving, slowly add carbonated water. Stir gently to mix. Serve over ice cubes. Garnish with orange slice halves if desired. Makes eight seven- to eight-ounce servings.

STICKY BUNS

2 loaves frozen bread dough
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 stick butter
2 tablespoons milk
4.6 ounce cook-and-serve vanilla pudding mix

Melt together in microwave oven the brown sugar, cinnamon, butter, milk, and vanilla pudding.

Spray 2 round cake pans with cooking spray. Tear loaves into small pieces and pour sauce over dough. Let rise overnight in refrigerator or one hour in warm, draft-free place. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Turn upside down on a platter.

SOUR CREAM COFFEE CAKE

Topping:
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cinnamon
3 tablespoons coconut

Mix together in a small bowl and set aside.

Batter:
1 cup butter
2 cups sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
4 eggs

Cream butter, sugar, vanilla and salt. Add eggs one at a time and continue to cream the mixture until light and fluffy.

Sift together:
3 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking soda

Add flour mixture and two cups sour cream alternately to the batter.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour a 13X9X2 or two eight- or nine-inch pans.

Put one fourth of the batter in a 13X9X2-inch or each round pan; top with one-fourth of the topping mixture.

Continue to layer batter and topping, ending with the topping mixture. Cut through the batter (swirling) using a table knife.

Bake at 350 degrees for one hour or until an inserted toothpick comes out clean. Cool on cooling rack. Freeze one or eat all of it.

Seminars Explore Opportunities For Home-Based Businesses

SCRANTON (Lackawanna Co.) — A series of home-based business workshops will be sponsored by Penn State Cooperative Extension, Keystone College, and the University of Scranton Small Business Development Center on Monday, April 22 and May 20. All three sessions will be conducted at Keystone College on Rt. 6 and 11 in LaPlume.

"Getting Started In A Home-Based Business" is the first program in the series scheduled for April 22 from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. Topics to be covered include getting started in business, developing a game plan, marketing ideas, and networking with successful entrepreneurs. Cost of this program is $25 per person which includes lunch, speaker fees and materials. Each additional person from the same business may attend for a reduced fee of $10.

The second workshop, "Business Plan Writing," is scheduled on Monday, May 20, from 8:30 a.m.-11:30 a.m. This session will provide an in-depth, hands-on experience for participants. Attendees will begin writing their business plan during the workshop. Cost of this program is $25 per person.

The final workshop in the series, "e-Commerce," will be May 20 from 12:30-3:30 p.m. This session will inform participants about the difference between a web presence and e-commerce explore the suitability of a business for the web and e-commerce, discuss whether you should create your own web elements or hire an expert, and much more. The cost of this session is $25 per person.

For more information or to register for these workshops, contact Penn State Cooperative Extension at (570) 963-6842 by April 12.

How To Make A Palm Branch Cross

Last year, many people requested a pattern for making a palm branch cross in the You Ask, You Answer column. Mrs Luther Spangler, York Springs, contributed the following pattern, complete with illustrations

Hold a palm branch in your hand. Fold the branch over two thirds the length of the branch (Fig. 1 side view).

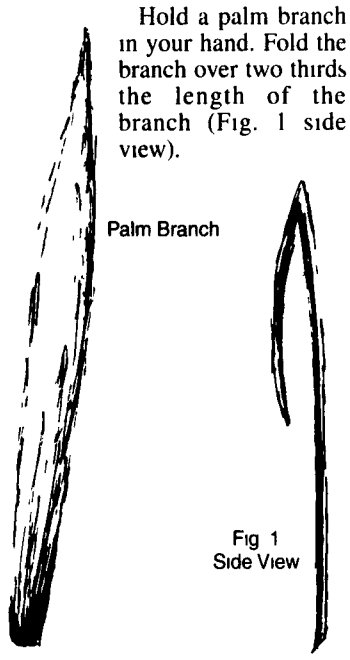

Fig 1
Side View

Now take the longer section and fold it up to where the cross arm will be located. Fold this over so the branch has a triangular fold at this point. (see Fig 2).

Here you will wrap this cross piece three times around the upright

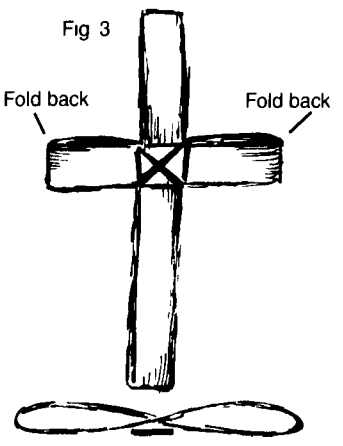
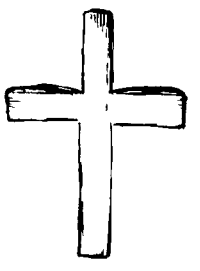
Wrap cross piece around 3 times

Now you will extend the cross piece out from the upright piece at the point where you wrapped the upright three times. About the same length as the upper area of the cross fold the cross piece back to the center (see Fig 3)

Making the cross piece go past the center, fold the branch back to the center



At the center, fold the branch up and then thread the branch through the wrapping you made at the cross piece. Wrap this two or three times in order to hold the cross piece firmly to the upright piece



Now you have an Easter Cross from Palm Branches

On Being a Farm Wife

Joyce Bupp

Nearly every critical stage of life is marked with a ritual.

Rituals are society's way of sealing an intent, celebrating a passage, and observing solemn, sad, and happy occasions. Births and baptisms. Confirmations and Bar or Bat Mitzvahs. Wedding ceremonies. Funeral processions. Those are just a few that come immediately to mind.

Not all rituals are "life and death" types. Some are funny; some perhaps irritating, some just plain silly.

Birthday parties could probably be considered rituals. What better occasion to celebrate than the milestone of a year in one's life?

My late father had a sort of ritual he followed every fall when he packed up for deer hunting. Practically everything he took along for the several-day stay, except for his rifle and ammunition, was carefully packed into brown paper grocery bags. Now I chuckle when I find myself stuffing things to take along somewhere into a more rugged equivalent: plastic grocery bags.

Children often develop rituals which must be faithfully adhered to each night before they get settled into bed. Maybe it's a last drink of water, a particular storybook, or the lighting of a favorite, friendly nightlight somewhere near their bed. And better not forget the beloved "blankey," or stuffed animal, if anyone plans on getting any sleep.

Rituals offer comfort and continuity.

Early, warm weather sent many of us diehard gardeners on our knees observing an annual ritual that almost borders (with apologies to all our ministerial friends) on being sacramental. Kneeling down in a sort of communion with the fragrant, damp ground to plant the first seeds of the season always seems to me very much like an act of faith, almost prayer.

Despite the continuing long-term drought and prolonged months of skimpy moisture, recent showers helped soften the soil's surface to a rich, crumbly texture. On a warm, sun-splashed March afternoon, planting something — anything! — helps fulfill a gardener's longings to coax up green life.

Our primary garden is never ready for planting this early, so I take inventory of the lawn area where I'd been cleaning off the usual winter accumulation of wind-blown litter: leaves, scattered maple twigs, a damp paper cattle mineral bag, five-gallon bucket, couple of plastic flowerpots, and plastic grocery sacks. Absent those distractions, the ideal seeding corner presents itself.

The small, square basin of field stone was crafted by The Farmer to catch and slow runoff from around the barn, then release it into the underground tile drainage system. Periodically, the stone basin fills with an accumulation of a sawdust and manure, a rich source of potting soil, with a bit of lime added, for the greenhouse plants. As each shovelful passes from basin to bucket, inevitably some loose soil drops off onto the ground at the base of the stone, forming a perfect early-planting patch. It catches the early morning rays of the sun as well, warming the soil sooner than less-sheltered spots.

And close enough to the barn that the ever-present cats should help discourage hungry bunnies.

During another seasonal ritual — taking inventory of assorted seeds — packets of all sorts of seeds turned up, including a couple appropriate for this early corner — tender leaf lettuces and tiny radishes. It takes but a few moments to carefully tuck these seeds into minuscule rows, then gently cover them in with a sprinkling of soil. A large box of sturdy, clear plastic, upturned over the tiny plot of promise and held down with a sturdy rock, will enhance the sunshine, provide shelter from chilling wind, and help keep the cats from digging there.

Like many rituals, the first planting may be more symbolism than substance. Cold weather, prolonged damp, unseasonal heat, drying winds, slugs, bugs, or a variety of factors may limit the success of this symbolic patch.

But none of that can detract from the satisfaction derived from having performed this annual ritual.

A ritual of hope.

Pa. Guild Of Craftsmen Plans Workshops

RICHBORO (Bucks Co.) — The Pennsylvania Guild of Craftsmen will present the 2002 Workshop Series at the Tyler Craft Center in Tyler State Park, Richboro.

A variety of workshops are offered in the following media: jewelry, glass beads, stained glass, ceramics, fiber, and papermaking.

PLAYING IT SAFE WITH EGGS

As Easter approaches, many of us begin to stock up on eggs for decorating or to serve in special dishes. Eggs have been used as a source of human food for thousands of years, so there are dozens of ways to prepare eggs.

In some instances, the bacteria Salmonella has been associated with egg consumption. Since we can't tell which eggs may carry the bacteria by looking at them, food safety precautions should be used anytime eggs are handled.

When purchasing eggs, look for ones that have clean, uncracked shells. Be sure that the eggs you purchase are being held in a refrigerated case. Pick up your eggs and other refrigerated foods just before you check out, allowing them to remain under refrigeration while you are shopping. Then, take these foods home immediately and put them in the refrigerator. You should also check the date that is stamped on the egg carton. Don't purchase eggs that are out of date.

When you get the eggs home, always store them in your refrigerator. Eggs do not need to be washed before being stored as they are washed and sanitized at the plant. By washing eggs purchased at the store, you may be washing of a protective coating the plant has placed on the eggs.

Store the eggs in their original carton to retain moisture. Do not place the eggs in the egg holder located on your refrigerator, because as the door is often the warmest part in your refrigerator. Eggs can usually be stored for four to five weeks after purchasing. Eggs that have been removed from the shell should be used within a few days of removing them from the shell.

While the appearance of eggs may differ slightly, these factors are not usually related to the safety of eggs. Blood spots in eggs are caused by the rupture of blood vessels and do not indicate that an egg is unsafe. If the white part of an egg is cloudy, this indicates the egg is fresh. The color of an egg yolk can vary according to the diet of the hen. However, a pink colored egg white may be an indication of spoilage.

A very important rule to keep in mind whichever way you are preparing your eggs is always wash your hands both before and after handling raw eggs. Countertops, utensils, and equipment that come into contact with eggs should be thoroughly washed with warm, soapy water after use. These rules are important because bacteria from raw eggs can be spread to foods that are ready to eat.

When preparing eggs, cook them until both the whites and the yolks are firm. Scrambled eggs should not be runny. If you are preparing a dish that contains eggs, cook it until it reaches a temperature of at least 160 degrees Fahrenheit, according to a thermometer. If you are making an item that calls for raw eggs such as homemade ice cream, Caesar salad dressing, or certain frostings, use pasteurized eggs. Serving undercooked egg products to infants and children, the elderly, or others with weakened immune systems can be very risky as these people are more prone to illness. Try to serve your eggs dishes immediately after preparation for both safety and quality reasons.

Hard-cooked or hard-boiled eggs are often prepared for Easter egg hunts. Use a food-safe coloring when dying eggs. Keep your hard-boiled eggs in the refrigerator until immediately before the egg hunt. If eggs have been out of the refrigerator for more than two hours, they should not be consumed. You may consider preparing additional eggs that will not be used in the egg hunt for consumption. If do plan to eat the eggs that you hide, be sure they are clean and unbroken after the hunt. The eggs should be placed back into the refrigerator immediately following the egg hunt. They should be used within one week since the protective coating on the outside of the eggs is washed away during boiling.

Occasionally, the outside of the yolk of a hard-cooked egg takes on a greenish tint. This happens as a result of a reaction of sulfur and iron compounds. Another possible cause for this reaction could be high amounts of iron in the water in which the eggs have been boiled. This greenish color can also be seen when scrambled eggs are held at a temperature that is too high for an extended period of time. While it is not visually appealing, this greenish tint is not harmful and the eggs can still be consumed.

Pies, Pies, And More Pies At Dairy Day

MONTROSE (Susquehanna Co.) — The Elk Lake School stage was host to 29 delectable pies ranging from blueberry, strawberry cream, and candy apple to chocolate chip nut and banana cream. The pies were baked by local residents to be part of the pie auction at Dairy Day.

*But first, Susquehanna County Commissioner Lee Smith, Chief Clerk Suzanne Brainard, and Sheriff Lance Benedict had the tough job of tast*ing the adults' pies to determine which three were the top prize winners. This year's pie baking winners were Reba Loomis, Robin Campbell, and Becky Darling.

Auctioneer Barry Sands rallied the "pie-eyed crowd" and began the bidding high. After all of the 29 pies were auctioned off and the buyers smiling, the total amount was about $1,200. This money will be split between 4-H Dairy program and Susquehanna County Dairy program.

Mike McDavid, Penn State Cooperative Extension's northeast regional director, judged the newest division of the pie contest — youth. Nine young bakers prepared pies to be auctioned off that day with Amanda Miner winning the contest.

Build A Better Sandwich Any Way You Slice It

Today everyone has his own opinion of what constitutes a good sandwich, but whether the filling is traditional or trendy, the common ingredient is some form of bread to hold it together.

"We are a nation of sandwich eaters. From lunch box snacks and picnic meals to tea-time treats and evening eats, sandwiches are a part of the American food tradition. According to a survey, the average American eats 193 sandwiches a year."

Grab A Bagel

American's consumption of bagels climbed 187 percent during the past 10 years. Whether for breakfast, lunch, dinner, or a snack, bagel sandwiches make quick, nutritious, and low-maintenance meals for any member of the family, any time of the day.

• Bagels for Breakfast — Start the day off right with scrambled eggs and bits of ham between toasted bagel halves.

• Bagels for Lunch — Spread hummus on the bagel with tomato slices and sprouts for a light sandwich taste

BAKED DELI SANDWICH
1 pound loaf frozen bread dough, thawed
2 tablespoons butter, melted
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon dried oregano
¼ teaspoon pizza seasoning
¼ pound sliced deli ham
6 thin slices mozzarella cheese
¼ pound sliced deli smoked turkey breast
6 thin slices cheddar cheese
Pizza sauce, warmed, optional

Roll dough into a small rectangle. Let rest 5-10 minutes. Combine butter and seasonings. Roll out dough into a 14x10-inch rectangle. Brush with half the butter mixture. Layer ham, mozzarella cheese, turkey, and cheddar cheese lengthwise over half of the dough to within ½-inch of edges. Fold dough over and pinch firmly to seal. Brush with remaining butter mixture. Bake at 400 degrees for 10-12 minutes or until golden brown. Cut into one-inch slices. Serve immediately with pizza sauce if desired. Serves 4-6.

Note: I usually spread 3 tablespoons pizza sauce on top of meats and cheeses before baking, instead of warming separately.

HAM BUNS
½ cup butter, softened
1 small onion, grated
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons mustard
2 cups finely chopped, fully cooked ham
1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
6 hamburger buns

Mix butter, onion, Worcestershire sauce, and mustard until well blended. Add ham and cheese. Mix well. Divide evenly among buns. Place in shallow baking pan and cover with foil. Bake at 350 degrees for 15-20 minutes or until hot.

CHEESE FRENCHY SANDWICHES
¼ cup mayonnaise
8 slices bread
8 slices process American cheese
1 egg
½ cup milk
1 cup crushed saltine crackers (about 25 crackers)
Vegetable oil for frying

Spread mayonnaise on one side of each slice of bread. Top four slices with two cheese slices. Top with remaining bread, mayonnaise side down. Cut each sandwich into four triangles.

In a bowl, beat egg, milk, and salt. Dip sandwiches into egg mixture, roll in cracker crumbs. Wrap in foil and freeze for up to one month

In a skillet heat 1 inch of oil to 375 degrees. Fry a few frozen sandwiches [illegible] minutes on each side, until golden [illegible]

Pita Possibilities

Stuff some veggies into your pocket — pita pocket, that is. The pocket is great for hiding assorted fixings.

Pita bread is made by steam — it puffs up the dough and, as the bread cools and flattens, a pocket is left in the middle. That pocket is great for hiding assorted fixings such as the following:

• Traditional — Tuck in shaved turkey, chicken, roast beef, or roast pork, along with chopped red onion, tomatoes, lettuce, and a salad dressing of your choice.

• Veggie — Take the traditional taste and simply subtract the meat. Instead, add fresh zucchini, sweet red pepper, and green onions for a vegetarian delight.

• Pizza — Spread marinara sauce inside the pita pocket and stuff in sauteed veggies and parmesan cheese.

• Mexican — Fiesta flavor begins with low-fat refried beans, diced tomatoes, salsa, and shredded cheese inside a pita sandwich pocket.

Wayne County 4-H Tractor Club To Begin

The "2002 Wayne County 4-H Tractor Club and Farm Machinery Safety Certification Program" will begin on Tuesday, April 2 at 8 p.m., at the Wayne County Cooperative Extension, Courthouse, in Honesdale. Other meeting dates are April 9, 16, 23, and 30.

This 4-H program is designed mainly for 14- to 16-year-old youth that intend to work on area farms this spring and summer. It can also be valuable safety training to others currently operating or working with farm tractors or other farm equipment.

A total of five classroom-type meetings are scheduled for this year's program.

The requirements of this 4-H project include: completing a 4-H tractor and machinery safety project book, taking and "passing" a comprehensive written examination and successfully competing in a tractor and machinery handling test.

All young people interested in this valuable 4-H project training are encouraged to contact the 4-H office so that the necessary 4-H project materials can be ordered. Participants must attend all five meetings plus the tractor and machinery handling test.

Every 4-H member that completes this project can also receive the "Tractor and Machinery Maintenance and Safety Completion Certificate." This certificate is accepted by the United States Department of Labor as proof of training for those young people working on area farms.

Please contact the Wayne County Cooperative Extension if you intend to participate in this 4-H program. The number to dial is (570) 253-5970, ext. 239.

Progressive Clovers 4-H Carroll County, Md.

The meeting of the Progressive Clovers 4-H took place March 11 and Sarah Gieron, the president, called the meeting to order. Austin Schwartzbeck led the 4-H pledge; John Saunders did roll call; and Ryan Haines gave the treasurer's report.

Twenty-two members attended the meeting.

While presentations were going on, dairy members did the Hoards Dairymen Dairy Judging Contest.

Presentations were done by Matt Carmen and Sarah Gieron on how to wrap a horse's leg; Matt Carmen, how to pasteurize goats milk; Jennifer Jackson and Sarah Gross, how to care for a weak lamb and how to judge a beef steer; Kristen Lease, how to make a 4-H tote bag; Kevin Ridinger, how to build a bird feeder, and Amy Ridinger, how to make a paper heart craft.

4-H Summer Program Assistant Wanted In Chester County

Attention all interested men and women who have completed at least one year of college and who are interested in learning more about Penn State Cooperative Extension and the 4-H Youth Development Program.

Hands-on experience as a member of the Chester County 4-H team, working with Penn State Cooperative Extension, is available this summer. Experiences will be provided in the 4-H Program that includes family living, dairy, livestock, camp, and other Penn State programs.

Please send a letter of inquiry with a current resume to: Laurie Szoke, Chester County 4-H Coordinator, 601 Westtown Road, Suite 370, P.O. Box 2747, West Chester, PA 19380-0990.

Kennard-Dale FFA Members Attend State Conference

The Pennsylvania FFA Association conducted its annual State Legislative Leadership Conference on March 10-12, at the Holiday Inn of Grantville, and the Harrisburg Hilton and Towers. Three members of the Kennard-Dale FFA Chapter, York County, were among the 267 participants this year.

The three-day conference consisted of leadership workshops that expressed the importance of communication and partnerships, parliamentary procedure in legislation, and appearance and etiquette; educational tours of Milton Hershey School, the Hershey Zoo, and the Hershey Chocolate Factory; a legislative breakfast at the Harrisburg Hilton on Tuesday morning with the students' respective representatives and senators; and a legislative simulation that divided the students into six bill committees, then into a majority and minority caucus, and finally a general assembly to learn the process in which legislation is passed.

The members who attended this conference learned what it is like to work in legislation and also what role they can play, as high school students, in government. They also had the chance to discuss issues with their legislators at the breakfast on Tuesday and gain first-hand knowledge of what the "hot topics" in their district might be.

Virginia Youth, Volunteer Leaders Participate In 4-H National Conversation

BLACKSBURG, Va. — Virginia's views on what is needed for youth development were well represented at a National Conversation on Youth Development held last week at Washington, D.C.

"We were celebrating the centennial of the National 4-H by gathering the thoughts and suggestions from all over the country about what youth need to realize their potential ," said Dorothy McCargo Freeman, Virginia Cooperative Extension 4-H youth development specialist at Virginia Tech.

"Virginia 4-H youth development agents provided leadership to have more than 60 local conversations, inviting all the adults who work with youth as well as youth themselves, to list what they thought was needed," she said.

"After all the local conversations, we held a state conversation in Richmond to gather all the local conversations and to discuss our state needs. This is the report that we took to the National. At the national all of America was represented."

Virginia 4-H Alumna Nancy Redd, Martinsville, who is a student at Harvard University, was master of ceremonies for the Congressional dinner

Representing Virginia were: Jessica Kirkby, Chesapeake; Lindsey Charity, Roanoke; Brandon Crawley, Alton; Christina Ritter, Henry County; Calie Lambert, Narrows; Amanda Milgrim, Gladys; Kaitlyn O'Malley, Boones Mill; Gerome Woodson, Petersburg; Joshua Gravelle, Tazewell; Jenna Lawrence, Buchanan.

Also, Rachel Barrett, Danville; Kylie Lowe, Vernon Hill; Ingrid Parris-Hinklinl, Fairfax; Cherlisa Tarpeh, Alexandria; Ryan Jones, Rustburg; Andrew Coffey, Riner; Myckieala Cooper, Alexandria; Daryl Walker, Alexandria.

Volunteer leaders with the group were: George Rivers, Sutherland; Liz Shockley, Middleburg; Rebekah Woodie, Fincastle; Sandi Hutchison, Chesapeake; Shannon Scott, Alexandria; Joyce Pettit-Dix, Parksley; Iris Smith, Onancock; Cheryl Tarpeh, Alexandria; Andrew Lowe, Vernon Hill.

John Blankenship, Virginia Cooperative Extension 4-H youth development agent at Tazewell County, also was part of the group.

ANSWER — Fred Daddario wanted a recipe for peanut butter fudge made with condensed milk. Leah Glick, Denver, contributed the following:

Peanut Butter Fudge

Three 6-ounce packages peanut butter chips
One 14-ounce can sweetened condensed milk
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup chopped peanuts, optional

In large saucepan, melt peanut butter chips, condensed milk, and butter. Stir occasionally. Remove from heat. Stir in peanuts if desired. Spread mixture into waxed paper-lined 8-inch square pan. Chill two hours or until firm. Enjoy!

ANSWER — Bonnie Reese, Wellsboro, wanted the recipe for peanut butter meltaways that had been printed in this paper a few years ago. A number of readers sent recipes, including this one from Jane Asper of Gardners:

Peanut Butter Meltaways

4 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sugar
1 cup milk
2 teaspoons melted Oleo
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
16 ounces peanut butter
8 ounce bar of chocolate

Beat eggs until lemon-colored. Add vanilla, sugar, milk, Oleo, salt, flour, and baking powder.

Bake mixture on oblong pan at 350 degrees for 15-20 minutes. Spread with peanut butter.

Melt chocolate and spread on top of peanut butter.

Peanut Butter Easter Eggs

3 pounds confectioner's sugar
2 pounds peanut butter
8 ounces cream cheese
1 pound butter
1 egg, unbeaten
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Roll into egg-shaped balls and allow to stand overnight. Coat with coating chocolate. Makes about 120 pieces.

ANSWER — Leora Petet from Hollsopple offered these Easter egg alternatives:

Almond Joy Eggs

½ cup marshmallow creme
½ cup white corn syrup
1 pound coconut

Heat together marshmallow and corn syrups until well mixed. Remove from heat and add enough coconut until can be formed into a ball. Form into egg shapes. Cool in refrigerator, then dip in coating chocolate. Place almond on top of each and dip again.

Fruit and Nut Easter Eggs

Petet notes these morsels improve with age.

2¼ cups sugar
1 cup light Karo syrup
¾ cup hot water
½ pound marshmallow creme
½ cup shortening (melted)
¼ cup confectioner's sugar
2 cups candied fruit
½ cup chopped nuts

In a saucepan, cook sugar, syrup, and water to 265 degrees. Add marshmallow creme and beat until almost firm. Add melted shortening, confectioner's sugar, candied fruit, and nuts. Mix well, shape eggs by hand, and dip. Will keep six to eight months. Makes 10 eggs.

ANSWER — Mary Ann Lapp, New Holland, wanted a recipe for drink mixes in a jar, especially for cappuccino. Mrs. Daniel Yoder, Lewistown, contributed this one:

Cappucino

1 cup instant coffee creamer
1 cup Nestle Quik
⅔ cup instant coffee
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Mix all ingredients together and place in a jar. To serve, add 3 tablespoons mixture to 1 cup hot water, or to taste.

ANSWER — A reader from Potter County wanted a recipe for salt-rising bread. Tessie Kizis, Newsoms, Virginia, sent the following, previously published in Lancaster Farming:

Salt-Rising Bread

Starter:
2 medium-sized potatoes, peeled, sliced thin
1 quart boiling water
¼ cup non-degerminated stone-ground cornmeal
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt

Sponge:
1½ cups milk
above starter
¼ teaspoon baking soda
4 cups all-purpose flour

Dough:
6 cups all-purpose flour
2½ teaspoons salt
6 tablespoons vegetable shortening

To make starter: Place the potatoes in a large bowl, pour boiling water over, then stir in cornmeal, sugar, and salt. Place bowl in large bowl of hot water and set in a warm place with steady temperature, such as a gas oven with only the pilot light on, electric oven with interior light on, or on top of water heater. Replace the hot water two or three times, when convenient. Let set for 24 hours. Remove potato slices from bowl, then make the sponge.

To make sponge: Heat milk until lukewarm and add to starter along with baking soda and 3½ cups flour. Beat briskly until smooth, preferably with a hand rotary beater. Cover with plastic wrap and again place in larger bowl of hot water. Set in a warm place and let the sponge double in bulk. It normally takes two to three hours, but check at an hour and a half. When doubled, it will look creamy and light. Don't let it set longer after it is creamy and light or it will become sour.

To make the dough: Place 4 cups of the flour in a large bowl. Add the salt and mix lightly with a fork. Drop in the shortening and blend with your gers as though you were making pie dough or until the mixture looks like fine meal. Add the flour mixture to the sponge and beat until well-mixed. Add enough additional flour (1 to 2 cups) to make a soft, kneadable dough. Turn out onto a floured surface and knead for one to two minutes. Let rest 10 minutes.

Resume kneading for about 10 minutes, or until dough is smooth. The dough will be heavy and putty-like. Divide the dough into thirds and shape each piece into a loaf. Place in greased pans. Cover with plastic wrap, set the pans in a larger pan of hot water, and set in a warm place to rise. This final rise will take about three hours. The loaves should increase in volume by about one third, less than the usual doubling.

Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven for 45 to 55 minute, until golden brown. If in doubt, it is better to bake a few minutes longer than to underbake, Turn out of pans and cool on rack.

Another reader contributed this recipe for Irish Soda Bread:

Irish Soda Bread

2 cups flour
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 eggs
¾ cup buttermilk
¾ cup raisins
2 teaspoons caraway seeds

In a bowl, combine flour, sugars, baking powder, soda, and salt. Cut in butter until crumbly. Combine 1 egg and buttermilk and stir into flour mixture just until moistened. Fold in raisins and caraway seeds. Knead on floured surface for one minute. Shape into round loaf and place on greased baking sheet. Cut a ¼-inch-deep cross on top of loaf. Beat remaining egg and brush over loaf.

Bake at 375 degrees for 30-35 minutes or until golden brown.

ANSWER — Anna Martin, Denver, contributed this healthy potato recipe to entice family members to eat vegetables:

Golden Parmesan Potatoes

3 large potatoes
2 tablespooons flour
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons light stick margarine or butter chopped parsley
garlic or onion powder (optional)

Peel potatoes and cut into quarters. (New potatoes can be cut without peeling.) Combine flour, cheese, and pepper in bag. Moisten potatoes with water and shake a few at a time in bag, coating well with mixture. Melt butter or margarine in 9X9-inch baking dish. Place potatoes in pan in single layer.

Bake for one hour at 375 degrees, turning once during baking. When golden brown, sprinkle with parsley. Serves 6.

Lebanon County Begins Princess Search

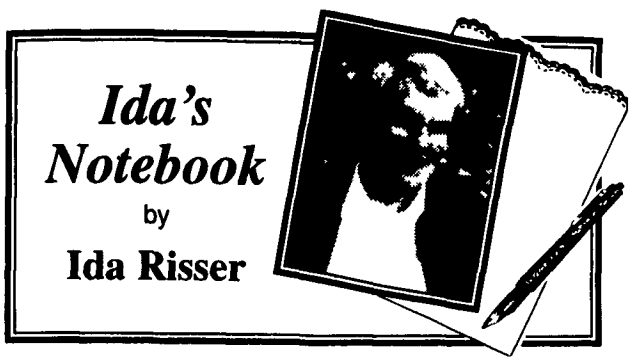
LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — The Dairy Promotion Committee of Lebanon County is searching and wondering who will be the new 2002-2003 Lebanon County Dairy Princess. That decision depends on the young ladies of Lebanon County.

If she loves dairy farming, dairy foods, or the dairy industry in general this is her opportunity to stand out and help the dairy industry by promoting nature's perfect beverage milk. She will have the opportunity to meet new people, speak on the radio, attend large banquets and conventions, and above it all, learn many new things

There are a few qualifications that each contestant must follow. She must live in Pennsylvania, be a daughter of a dairy farmer, dairy farmer manager or herdsman, someone employed in the dairy industry, or be employed herself as one of the above, own at least two dairy animals in a 4-H or FFA project prior to May 1, 2002, or have served her county for a full year as a dairy maid/ambassador. Be at least 16 years of age by July 1, 2002 and will not reach her 24th birthday by Dec. 31, 2002. She must be single, never married, have no children and must not marry during her reign. Present a wholesome, healthy appearance, and compete in the state pageant. She must be a county princess and must attend the training seminar in July.

Lebanon County is also looking for dairy maids/ambassadors and a li'l dairy miss. Dairy maids/ambassadors are not just for females, but gentlemen as well. They must be at least 12 years of age by July 1, 2002, and have some relation to the dairy industry. The li'l dairy miss must be 4-7 years of age by July 1, 2002 and have some relation to the dairy industry.

Those interested will have the opportunity to meet with Amy Moyer, the current Lebanon County/state alternate dairy princess, on Tuesday, April 9 at 7:30 p.m. at the Lebanon Ag Center. Also attending will be the Dairy Maids Jess Bross, Chanelle Horst, and Janelle Zimmerman; and Li'l Dairy Miss Louise Krall.



Recently, I attended a small meeting in a nearby church. Folks in the community of the small village of Oregon intend to publish a booklet. They are interested in hearing from people who attended this church in years gone by. My mother attended this church, but I did not. It was within walking distance of her home and her friends attended this church.

Old photos show a picket fence around the church yard. Here is one of the oldest cemeteries in Lancaster County. Four different religious groups attended this Union Church. One part of the cellar had planks for a floor and was rented, while the other half was used to store fuel. Each family that attended was asked for a nickel to pay the janitor. Even the grass on the grounds was sold to the highest bidder. It was a different time.

At one time Oregon was a flourishing community. The 1883 Ellis and Evans "History of Lancaster County" says the village had one hotel, dry-goods store, coachmaker and wheelwright shop, shoemaker, blacksmith shops, two butcher shops, four cigar manufacturers, a grist mill, and a Union church.

The locality was settled by Jacob Bear in 1717. The main road from Reading to Lancaster ran through this village. At one time it was known as Catfish due to the large number of this kind of fish in Carter's Run, now Lititz Creek. At the time that a post office was established the name was changed to Oregon.

When I walked to the two-room schoolhouse in the village, I passed the hotel with a pump on the front porch. This has been incorporated into the building and the well has a glass cover which allows patrons to look into it's depths. It is an unusual feature and does draw attention.

The 1776 hotel is now a popular restaurant and the mill has also been remodeled into offices. It is wonderful to have both of them restored.

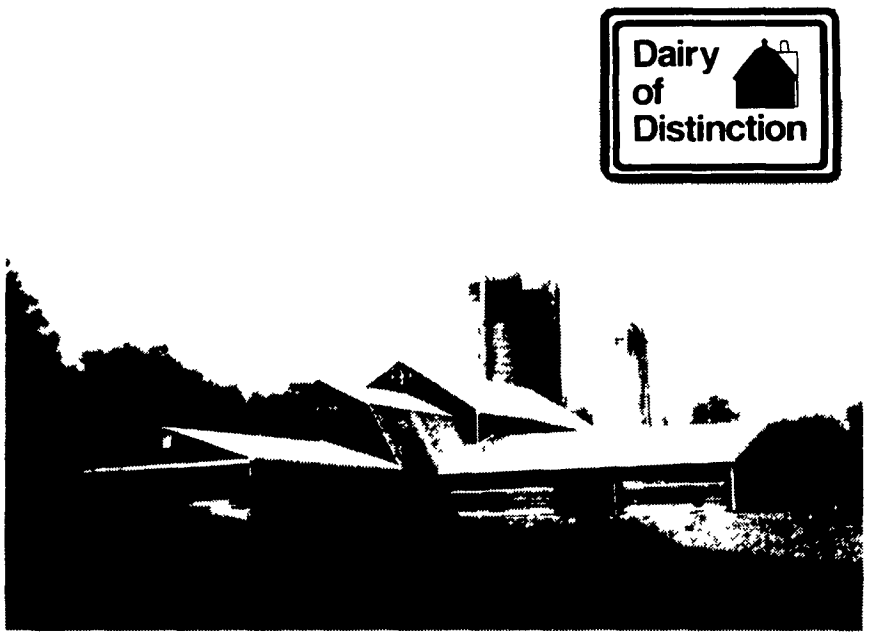
Wanted: Well-Kept Farms For Dairy of Distinction Merit

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) – Pennsylvania dairy farms are invited to apply for this year's Dairy of Distinction Award from the Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program. Applications must be submitted by April 15.

The award is based on the idea that attractive farmsteads enhance consumer confidence in the wholesomeness of milk and stimulate milk sales and public support for the industry. Dairies receiving the highest scores in each of 10 Pennsylvania districts will be awarded an 18- by 24-inch Dairy of Distinction sign to display in front of their farm.

"This program is run by volunteers and recognizes the hard work and dedication of dairy producers who promote a positive image for the dairy industry," said Mike O'Connor, secretary of the Pennsylvania Dairy of Distinction program and professor of dairy science extension in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

Roadside judging will take place in May. Judges will look at factors that can be controlled by the farmer, such as clean and attractively finished buildings; neat landscaping, ditches, roads, and lanes; and well-maintained fences. They also will take into account other aspects of the farm, such as cleanliness of animals, the barnyard, feed areas, and manure management.



Crystal Spring Farm, Mifflintown

Winning farms will be notified in late June. Because this is a yearly award, previous winners are reevaluated each year to see if they are still maintaining excellent standards.

To receive an application, call Mike O'Connor at (814) 863-3913 or e-mail him at MOConnor@das.psu.edu.

Since 1987, Pennsylvania's Dairy of Distinction Program has recognized more than 750 dairy farms. The Pennsylvania program is part of the Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program, which also includes New York, New Jersey, and Vermont. Dairies in these states can contact the program secretary in their state for applications.

How Is Your Farm Scored?

Awards will be based upon neatness, good maintenance, and other factors, which can be controlled by the farmer. Attractive background scenery should not be weighed heavily in judging. All judging observations should be made from a vehicle at one or more points on an adjacent public highway (or if farm is off the road, the nearest lane). Judging should give equal consideration to old wood construction and new construction of metal or concrete block.

The award program may be used for subsequent advertising or promotion activities for dairy producers or dairy farming Farmers who apply for awards agree that, if selected, they will cooperate with these activities and make all reasonable efforts to maintain both the exterior and interior of their properties in an acceptable condition

How The Judging Works

Judging teams will visit farms during the month of May Farms will be judged each year as the award is presented on an annual basis Any dairy failing to maintain appearance standards will be asked to remove their sign. The Dairy of Distinction signs remain the property of the committee, not the property of the dairy farmer All farms must achieve a compliance score of 90 percent of their Dairy of Distinction score card Your cooperative or milk handler will be contacted to approve your milk quality

Rules

1 The Dairy of Distinction sign remains the property of the Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program Committee (NEDFBP)
2 The post and bracket shall be supplied by and maintained by the dairy farmer NEDFBP suggests that a wood post 4"x4"x12' or iron pipe 2"x12' be used Posts or pipe should be installed and maintained in true vertical position with 8' above ground Top of the bracket should be lower than six inches from the top of the post In addition, NEDFBP suggests that the sign be mounted in a frame to provide additional stability
3 The sign shall be displayed in front of the dairy at roadside An attractive post and bracket, or other frame shall be used to display the sign No more than three signs should be displayed from the sign frame or post, and all shall be of a style, general size and quality comparable to the Dairy of Distinction sign The sign should be secured on all sides to avoid wind damage
4 Signs shall not be moved to other premises New owners of a Dairy of Distinction farm must apply to retain the sign
5 Replacement of damaged signs shall be at the discretion of the committee
6 No producer shall be charged with scoring or sign expenses
7 The judges' decision will be final
8 Judging will take place between May 1 and May 31
9 Farms awarded a Dairy of Distinction sign in previous years will be judged between April 1 and April 30 If they do not qualify, they will be rejudged between May 1 and May 31 so they have the opportunity to keep the sign
10 Farms that do not requalify will return the sign to their regional Dairy of Distinction Committee

Dairy of Distinction
2002 Pennsylvania Application

PURPOSE OF PROGRAM

Attractive dairy farms give the consumer greater confidence in the wholesomeness of milk and stimulate milk sales which encourages public support for the dairy industry. The award gives recognition to the dairy farmer for maintaining a well-kept farmstead.

ELIGIBILITY

All Northeast dairy farms producing milk for sale are invited to submit an application for the award. Dairies receiving the 10 highest scores in each of the 21 districts will receive an 18"x24" Dairy of Distinction sign to be displayed in front of their farm.

Clinic To Address Safe Drinking Water

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — If you are one of the estimated three million Pennsylvanians who rely on a private well, spring or cistern, chances are the tap water you drink contains some form of contamination, say Penn State water resource specialists.

To address problems with private water supplies, Penn State will offer a live satellite clinic from 7:15 - 8:45 p.m. on March 27.There are about one million private water supplies in Pennsylvania, mostly springs and wells fed by groundwater, and about 20,000 new wells are drilled in the state every year. Studies show that between 60 and 70 percent of these private sources don't meet all drinking water safety standards. Because private water systems are largely unregulated — and their owners have sole responsibility for their management — water quality problems are common.

Common problems in private water supplies include bacterial contamination, lead, radon, nitrate, iron, acidity and corrosivity. Residents attending the clinic can learn how to avoid, detect and treat contaminants.

The clinic will cover drinking water standards, proper well construction and location, land-use activities associated with individual pollutants, water testing and water treatment. Water conservation and managing a private water supply in times of drought also will be discussed.

During the clinic, Penn State water resource specialists will offer tips and advice and will answer questions submitted via telephone and fax from the audience. At the downlink sites across the state, Penn State Cooperative Extension agents will be available for consultation.

The clinic is free to attend, but advance registration may be required. For the nearest downlink site, or for more information on maintaining a private water supply, contact the Penn State Cooperative Extension office in your county.

Cornwall Readers Moo-ve To Their Reward

A Trip To Krall Dairy Farm, Lunch, Ice Cream

CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — Two classes of students who won the February "Moo-ve into Reading" challenge contest at the school received their prize this week.

Doreen Weaber's second graders and Maurice (Jim) Keesey's fifth graders visited the dairy farm of Tom and Shirley Krall Monday as part of their reward.

The 40 children split into two groups to tour the dairy, spending time with the baby calves and the milking parlor.

The second group was able to see the menu of what a cow eats and view the adult milking cows up close.

In addition to the dairy operation, the Krall's piglet, llama, goats, turkey, and goose attracted the students' attention and allowed more educational opportunity for the Kralls, who led the tours. The Kralls milk 90 cows.

As the milk truck rumbled in and driver Randy Luckenbill began draining the milk tank into the truck, Shirley Krall explained the workings of the dairy. After the farm's tank was emptied, she said, the tank would be carefully washed.

Luckenbill added that the milk shipped out that day would end up at an area chocolate factory. The truck holds approximately 7,000 gallons, or 61,000 pounds of milk, said Luckenbill.

Even though the day was rainy, students toured the various barn facilities for the different ages of the herd.

The three basics of a cow's production are "fed, bred, and bed," said Tom Krall. He explained the importance of a balanced ration, freshening, and proper bedding on a dairy farm.

After the dairy farm tour, the students proceeded to the Golden Corral for a special lunch and then on to Dairy Queen for dessert.

The purpose of the challenge contest was to encourage reading. The school's principal and librarian challenged the students to read, read, and read during February's "Moo-ve in to Reading" program, designed by librarian Sherry Kalbach. On Read across America day (March 1), the results of the school challenge were announced.

During the month, primary students had earned one "cow" for every picture book they read or had read to them. Students in grades 3-5 earned one cow for every four chapters that they read.

If the school total surpassed 2002 cows, the librarian and principal promised that they would kiss and milk a cow in a school-wide assembly on March 1. That goal was easily reached in two weeks.

A second goal was that the students get to 10,000 cows and the principal would become a human sundae.

The librarian and principal fulfilled their promises at the assembly on March 1, as the students had actually read more than 18,000 cows' worth during February.

The Lebanon County Dairy Princess and Dairy Maid also served Purple Cows during lunch and did presentations about the dietary importance of milk and about Lilly, the cow that Mr. Kindt milked.

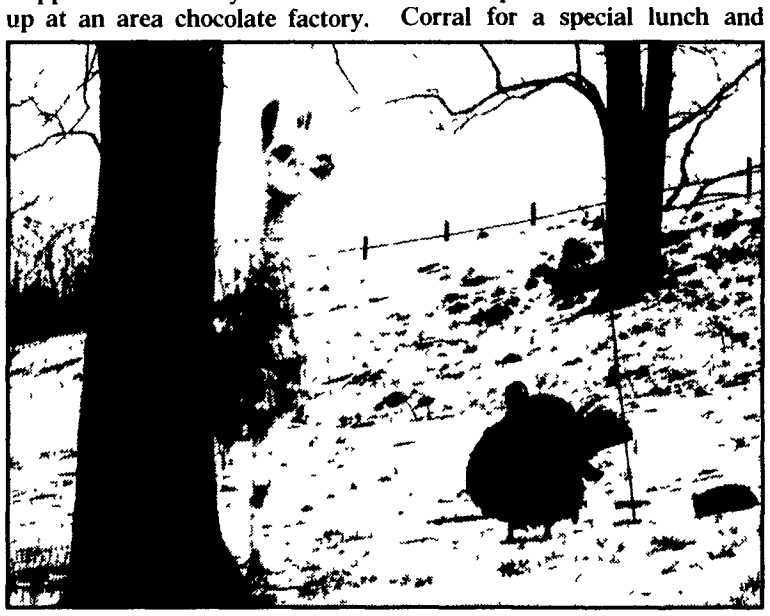
Weaber's students had earned 1,607 cows, each representing a picture book and Keesey's earned 1,176 cows, each representing four chapters read during February.

The trip and reading promotion with a dairy theme is funded by school activity funds and the PTO.



Both a llama and a turkey join the other various animals at the Krall farm. Both Tom and Shirley used the opportunity to teach about products from animals.

"The cow needs a very healthy diet," explains Tom Krall as the students see the components of a cow's ration.

A FARM HERITAGE ALBUM, by Cynthia Bombach Helzel. Purlin Press, 2000, 123 pp., $19.95. ISBN 0-9702380-0-2

Cynthia Helzel notes in her introduction to A FARM HERITAGE ALBUM that she wrote this book because though she couldn't save the farm, she could possibly save some fond farm memories.

She chronicles the rapid changes in farming in western Pennsylvania during the first half of the past century. The book is subtitled "Fifty Years of Westmoreland County Farming History Told Through the Photographs and Stories of Those Who Lived Them."

I found it easy to enjoy the author's book, written in an easy-going, anecdotal style. She recounts the many ways in which farmers could only reluctantly give up their beloved teams of horses for tractors. Helzel traces the evolution of those clumsy beasts (the tractors, that is), from mere engines to provide good belt-running power to full-scale replacements of workhorses.

About a dozen different families supplied photos to complete the album. Helzel points out, in her epilogue on page 111, what it takes to be a good farmer. In the words of Dr. Boggs, "Good health. And it takes a lot of work, a lot of ingenuity. I mean, the farmer's the most resourceful man in the world. He can doctor his own cattle. He can fix his own tractors, he can use baling wire and a little ingenuity to keep anything going. He has to do this to survive! To be what he is! And when he can't do that, he goes by the wayside."

The epilogue itself is packed with enough insight into what has evolved in farming today, not only for Westmoreland County but also for the entire country.

Helzel points to a possible updated edition of this book. You can order from her at Purlin Press, RD 1 Box 377, Millersdale Rd., Greensburg, PA 15601, (724) 853-9794. The album costs $19.95 plus $3 shipping and handling. Pennsylvania residents must add 6 percent sales tax on the total.

CHILDREN OF THE DEPRESSION, ed. by Kathleen Thompson and Hilary Mac Austin. Indiana University Press, 2001, 215 pp., $35. ISBN 0-253-34031-4

CHILDREN OF THE DEPRESSION runs the gamut of emotions, if you look at the photos closely enough, of children from all walks of life, from all income levels, from every part of the country, caught up in the most tumultuous period in U.S. history — the Great Depression.

A good example is the photo of the farm boy in tattered overalls, shielding his face while looking low, caught up in a dust storm in Cimarron County, Okla., in April 1936. There is an account by Melt White, that speaks of the "spring of 1935" when "the wind blew 27 days and nights without quittin,' and I remember that's why my mother just — I thought she was going to go crazy because it was just — it was — you got desperate, because if the wind blew durin' the day or durin' the night and let up, you got some relief. But just day and night, 24 hours, one 24-hour after the other, it just — but it's 27 days and nights in the spring of 1935, it didn't let up."

The book is full of accounts of migratory Oklahoma family, of families scraping by in the Hoovervilles, of a country torn apart. But it is also full slum children at play in Washington, D.C. in November 1935. Or kids having fun in a homemade swimming pool for steelworkers' children in Pittsburgh in July 1938.

CHILDREN has sharecropper families, gypsies, migrant workers, Native American families, and others who had been uprooted as a result of the Depression.

There is a particularly telling photo of a family near Watertown, N.Y., in August 1941, photographed at the Pine Camp military area. They are about to move to a 240-acre dairy farm in South Rutland, N.Y., obtained through the New York Defense Relocation Corporation, according to the authors. You can tell they are a little pensive, but there's some glee ready to burst, because you can tell they are moving onto a better life.

This book is heartbreaking. At the same time, it is truly a marvelous work of art, with exceptional photos on every page.

AGRICULTURAL CHEMICALS: BOOK II, HERBICIDES, 2002 Revision, by W.T. Thomson. Thomson Publications, 2001, 338 pp., $24.95. ISBN 0-913702-40-4

Order from Thomson Publications, P.O. Box 9335, Fresno, CA 93791, (559) 266-2964. They also have a Website, www.agbook.com.

ALTERNATIVE TRAVEL DIRECTORY, from the editors of Transitions Abroad Magazine, 7th Ed., revised and expanded. Transitions Abroad Publishing, 2002, 260 pp., $19.95. ISBN 1-886732-10-8

For those who want to be a traveler rather than a mere tourist, ALTERNATIVE TRAVEL DIRECTORY could be for you.

(A tourist tends to bring the home along with him or her; a traveler, on the other hand, leaves the trappings behind and immerses him or herself in the culture of the country visited.)

The guidebook provides a wealth of information, including the Internet, about tour programs, hostels, agencies, and full-course immersion-type programs for the serious traveler. Websites are included for whatever interest and for those who want to make their own travel plans.

There are also many addresses and phone numbers of contacts to help guide a person in the right kind of travel plan.

It's a real resource!

Open Meeting On Cemetery Restoration At County Historical Society

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Steve Porter will discuss "Cemetery Restoration" at the general meeting of Grave Concern, Inc., at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 27, at the Lancaster County Historical Society, 230 North President Avenue, Lancaster. Porter heads Keystone Cemetery Services, Inc., New Holland. The public is invited to the meeting.

Grave Concern President Steven Stuart will also briefly review recent activities of the organization and plans for the year. There will be opportunity for questions as well as an open discussion of practices and procedures of graveyard preservation, restoration and maintenance. Different methods and approaches will be aired.

Porter has operated Keystone Cemetery Services for more than five years, after working with several leading landscapers and cemetery care-takers in Lancaster County. Keystone specializes in monument restoration, cleaning and vandalism repair and foundation installation.

He learned cemetery care under the tutelage of this father, who was superintendent of the 78-acre Northwood Cemetery in Philadelphia. Subsequently, after graduating from Philadelphia College of Textiles and Science (now Philadelphia University), he became superintendent himself, overseeing between 500 and 1,000 interments a year.

Grave Concern, Inc., a recognized non-profit organization, promotes the preservation, restoration and maintenance of historic burial plots within Lancaster County. It facilitates the gathering and exchange of information through regular educational, history, and technical assistance programs.

Extension Program Offered On Retirement Planning

SCRANTON (Lackawanna Co.) — When it comes to retirement, a little bit can make a big difference. Saving just $1 a day now could mean an extra $21,000 when you retire.

If you saved that dollar each day for 20 years and put it in a retirement account earning 10 percent per year, you would have an extra $21,000 in your account. That's enough to add $190 per month to your retirement income over a 25-year retirement period.

If you want to get serious about saving for retirement, plan to attend Penn State Cooperative Extension's workshop, "Top 10 Reasons to Plan Your Retirement," Thursday, April 18, from 7-9 p.m. at the Penn State Worthington Scranton Campus in the Dawson Building, Room 10.

The cost of the program is $5 which includes materials and refreshments. For more information or to make reservations, call Penn State Cooperative Extension at (570) 963-6842 by April 11.

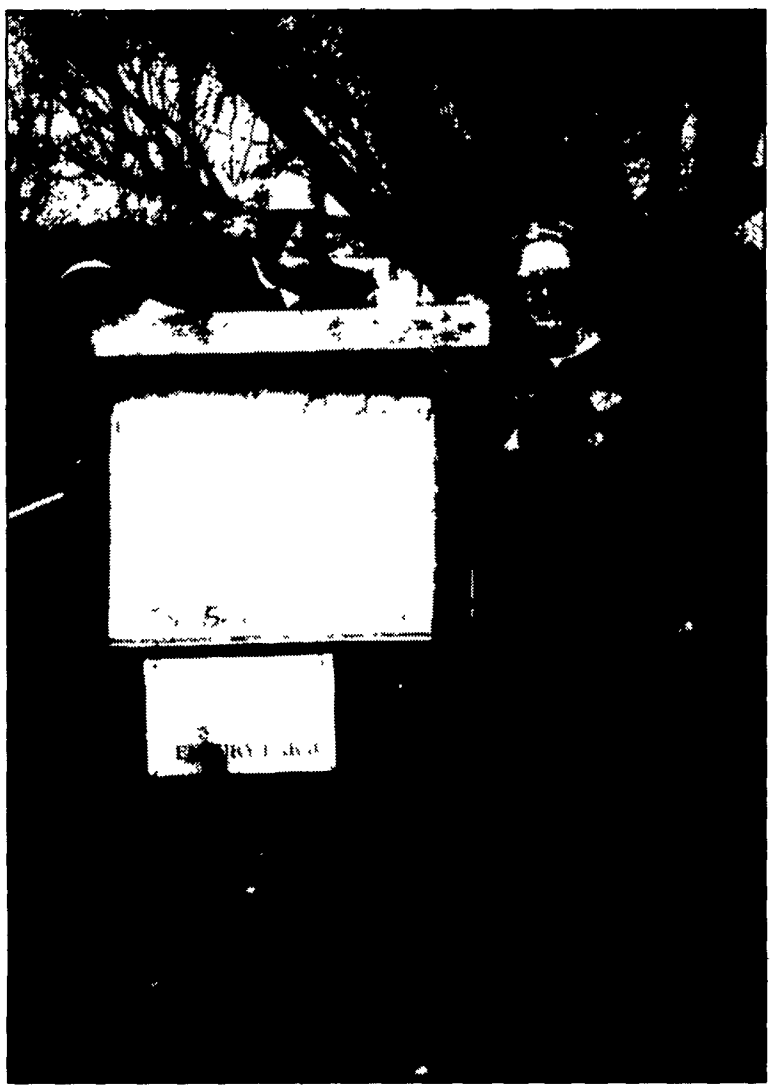
Never A Dull Moment For Lutz Family At Conicville Ostrich



Willard and Lorna Lutz, owners of Conicville Ostrich, Mount Jackson, Va., pose at their Virginia Century Farm sign located along Senedo Road (Rt. 42).

GAY BROWNLEE
Virginia Correspondent

MOUNT JACKSON (Shenandoah Co., Va.) — On the Virginia Century Farm of fifth generation owners Willard and Lorna Lutz, a guest and the couple, themselves, watched a female ostrich using her beak to roll an egg on the ground. They approached her on a sort of runway situated in the center, with high fences separating ostrich pens on the left and those of the smaller emus on the right.

Aligning his movements to those of the people, a big male ostrich inside the fence trotted along, ready to protect a harem of females with a lightening strike of his awesome beak, if the intruders threatened to come too close.

When the danger passed, Lorna said, "Watch, he will dance for you."

Sure enough, with ruffled feathers lilting every which way, elongated neck undulating left and right and legs in the dirt, the great bird performed a fascinating and amorous routine.

Then a companionable, coal black goat sporting gray horns, exercised his right to join the people, but instinctively began to nibble at the black shoulder bag and dark linen jacket the guest had on, obviously, pleased with an array of unexpected dietary supplements he could easily reach.

In 1995, the Lutzs were already living on the land that, after emigrating from Germany, Willards great-grandfather had acquired in the Shenandoah Valley. That's when they decided to go for the long jump and start an ostrich business. Getting Conicville Ostrich off the ground wasn't easy for Willard, who retired from having been a dentist with the Harrisonburg/Rockingham Health Department, and Lorna, a Shenandoah County elementary school teacher, who agreed to remain on the substitute roster after resigning the full-time position.

Willard Lutz holds an ostrich hide that is in the drying process — packed in salt after the fat is removed and preparatory to being shipped away for tanning.

"Money was the challenge," said Willard about the early experience.

It turned out they lost big bucks upon the purchase of their first breeder pair ordered from Texas. The lesson was a hard one. In Orange County Virginia, however, the same year they bought a second breeder pair close to home, their success improved.

Despite the difficulties, they retained a determination that was owing to the conviction that ostrich is a lean, healthier meat choice and a worthwhile small enterprise.

They soon realized when they attempted to gather helpful information and advice from an ostrich organization, that support was not there. They were on their own.

Willard said Conicville Ostrich is one of a handful of similar operations in the state of Virginia and reports that Texas and Oklahoma are the main hubs for ostrich farms.

A female ostrich rolls her egg on the ground at Conicville Ostrich, Mount Jackson, Va.

By and large the pursuit got off the ground and now is starting to pay for itself.

These days at appropriate times they hitch the livestock trailer to the truck and tow it to Somerset, Pa. where the LaRue Meat Processing folks slaughter the birds.

En route there, however, curious travelers slowing down to get a better look generally create a slowdown of traffic. Instead of continuing on their way, the travelers stay abreast longer than they should to observe the long-necked creatures.

"Traveling on the interstate, the ostriches stick their heads out the side of the trailer," said Lorna. "Traffic will back up to see what on earth is sticking out its head out of the trailer."

The valuable hide is professionally removed at LaRues and the meat is also processed.

Back at the farm, the fat is rendered after Willard takes it off the hide. The fat is valuable in producing lotions, soaps, and oils. Until ready to ship to a tannery in Iowa, the hides stay packed in salt for two or three weeks. The leather is shipped to Missouri and someone fills the order for various items the Lutzs want made from it.

Lorna Lutz, left, of Conicville Ostrich, chats with Lynn St. Clair of Swover Creek Farms about the Shenandoah Alternative Farmers Exchange (SAFE). In February, SAFE was awarded a grant that St. Clair applied for in behalf of the three farms comprising the exchange. Working cooperatively, they are going to direct-market their own fresh meats, poultry, vegetables, and small fruits both at home and at farmers markets.

Lorna waxes creative with the eggs and feathers visible in the handcrafts scattered throughout the house, along with numerous leather items and by-products, all within easy reach.

The teal green emu eggs resemble ready-made Easter eggs, but considerably smaller than the cream-colored counterparts laid by the ostrich. Lorna said as you drill into an emu egg, it gets lighter and lighter.

Keeping both emus and ostriches enable the Lutzs to educate visitors who come to them for tours. They can see distinct differences in the two species.

The laying chickens they keep provide eggs to sell and their turkeys are ready at holiday time.

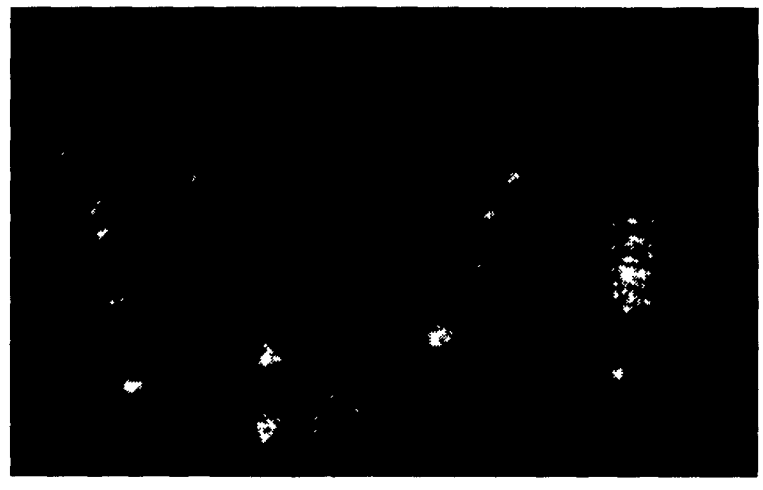
With a good deal of pride, they point out a patch of blackberries that Willards forebears planted 40 years ago. The stalks continue their annual fruit-bearing.

The markets and shows Lutzs go to in Woodstock, Staunton, and Charlottesville open on March 30 and run through December. Lorna says, in fact, before the season ends for the markets, their fruits and vegetables will already have run out. They grow snow peas, onions, raspberries, blackberries, asparagus, and corn, besides all manner of ostrich meat and products.

Their goal for connecting to customers in person is to acquaint people with the source of their food and to provide the assurance there are no additives (Lutzs have applied for organic certification) in what they are selling.

In maintaining and expanding this mission, with two other farms in the area, they have organized the Shenandoah Alternative Farmers Exchange (SAFE) to market their products together. For instance, at separate venues this year, while someone will be holding down one fort and selling all their products in a single location, another will be doing the same thing somewhere else.

People are welcome to visit the Conicville Ostrich farm by making an appointment for a tour. Call the Lutzs at (540) 477-3574 or visit www.conicvilleostrich.com on the internet.



Willard Lutz models the ostrich leather boots and Lorna, his wife, the ostrich leather shoes.

Satellite Conference On Cancer April 4

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — On Thursday, April 4, from 1 p.m.-3 p.m., Penn State Cooperative Extension in collaboration with the Appalachia Cancer Network, will host a national satellite conference entitled, "Environment and Breast Cancer: Education for Change."

The program is a project of Cornell University's Program on Breast Cancer and Environmental Risk Factors (BCERF) and is targeted for those working with women, girls, families, and communities to teach the connections between health and environment, the need to be physically active and to eat healthily, to limit exposure to environmental chemicals, and to integrate breast cancer risk reduction education into health screening.

The conference will include four national speakers and feature the newly released BCERF Tool Kit, which contains practical breast cancer risk reduction messages that can and should be integrated into the lives of real people.

Content areas include talking about pesticides in the home and neighborhood, chemicals in the home, helping rural women to adopt breast cancer risk reduction strategies, integrating breast cancer risk reduction messages into community health care and breast cancer screening settings, and working with preadolescent girls to strengthen leadership skills in modeling healthy behaviors for breast cancer risk reduction. Each module of the Tool Kit has been field-tested and evaluated and is designed to be integrated into existing community education programs and will be available for on-site review. For more information on the BCERF Program at Cornell check their Website: at http://www.cfe.cornell.edu/bcerf.

The Program will be broadcast also at Penn State Cooperative Extension — Cumberland County.

Register by calling Marg Malehorn at (717) 240-6500.

QUESTION — A reader wants to know where to find a 3-inch porcelain light socket.

QUESTION — Mildred Hess wants the original diet book, "Beverly Hills Diet," by Judy Mazel and published about 1990. Call Hess at (717) 933-8134.

QUESTION — A reader is looking for the words to the song that includes these lines: "How do you talk to a little baby goat? You can't say hello like a man. You have to say baa to a little baby goat. That's all he'll understand."

QUESTION — Holly Eshbach, Dover, wants to know where to purchase "baby doll sheep," which are miniature sheep that grow between 18-24 inches in height. She also wants information on the breed and diet and care that is required.

QUESTION — Glen would like to know where to find mower parts for a Yanmar diesel YM146. Call (717) 626-5700.

QUESTION — John Kotulich, Flemington, N.J., wants to know where to buy a glass jar for a hand butter churn. The top opening with outside thread diameter is about 5⅝-inches and is 11- to 12-inches deep for a 2 or a 2½ gallon round or square size. Call (908) 782-5774.

QUESTION — A reader (717) 898-7085 needs a source for plastic dibbles used for planting small seedlings.

QUESTION — John W. Lowery Jr., 7 Old Sharptown Rd., Auburn, NJ 08085, was born and raised in Rowes Run, Fayette County. Lowery is researching coal mines in that area and is looking for pictures of the following coal mines: Colonial #1 Smock, Colonial #2 Royal also known as Chestnut Ridge, Colonial #3 Rowes Run, and Colonial #4 Grindstone.

QUESTION — Bob Fleckstein, Woodstown, N.J., has an old string of Christmas lights. He wants to know where he can buy small clear replacement bulbs for it. The bulbs are one-inch long and have threads on the end. No marking is on them.

QUESTION — David Sempler, Elkton, Md., wants written information on scenting in regards to hunting. He writes that some days his beagles run as if they are tied to the rabbit and work very hard to keep it going. Sempler has heard that the ground breathes in and out and sometimes it does not. He knows that barometric pressure changes affect scenting conditions and that extremely dry weather produces bad scenting conditions. Sempler wants factual information on the relationship between high and low pressures, dry and wet ground, and high and low humidity.

QUESTION — Dave Ruble, West Chester, is looking for cylinder records (Columbia, Edison, Indestructible, and others) and phonograph-related items. He also wants old trains and toys. Call (610) 793-4249.

QUESTION — Ben Kinsinger, 686 Kensinger Rd., Meyersdale, wants to know where to find two old gas engines in any condition for an old Maytag washing machine motor that used a glass jar turned upside down for the gas. He also wants a very small ½ horsepower New Holland gas engine made in New Holland.

QUESTION — Louise Hannum, Wagontown, wants to know if there is any interest in a complete 1968 Franklin Mint Antique Car Coin Collection Series I. It includes 25 bronze coins dated from 1901-1925 with descriptive booklet.

QUESTION — A reader has a problem with their rabbits not pulling fur to prepare a nest to have their young. Anyone know what causes this "unmotherly" behavior?

ANSWER — Frank Rice, Blain, wanted to know how the term "pork bellies" came into use for reporting on agricultural commodities. Millie Bunting, Lancaster Farming market staff, writes: Pork bellies, as the name suggests, is the cut from the underside of the hog carcass from which bacon is obtained. It refers to unsliced bacon. According to the Chicago Mercantile Exchange: Since pork bellies were considered to be a factor influencing hog prices and followed the seasonal marketings and price swings of live hogs, frozen pork bellies futures contracts were first offered in 1962 to provide hedging opportunities for meat packers. They quickly became one of the most active futures traded, mostly by speculators who probably found the name "pork bellies" intriguing.

ANSWER — Joyce Wenz wanted to know where to find an old-time sock knitting machine. John Rinker, R.R. 1 Box 17, Scotrun, PA 18355, phone (570) 629-0556 has two hand-crank machines he is willing to sell. One is a Griswold. He also has extra needles and weights.

Heat with Corn!

Made in USA

A BETTER ALTERNATIVE

The corn burning furnace has many advantages over wood and coal heat. The large storage bin holds up to 14 bushels of fuel, which is automatically fed into the combustion chamber as needed. There's no need to load the furnace several times a day. The use of corn also eliminates the bark mess, insects, splinters, and handling problems connected with the use of wood fuel, and the dust and dirt from coal. UL Approved.

Ag Community Donates Antiques, Collectibles, More For Pennsylvania Relief Sale

Two-year-old Tonya Rutt examines a gold piece. The gold pieces will be sold in $5, $10, and $20 denominations. Tonya and her sister Tori are the children of Larry and Bev Rutt, Ephrata.

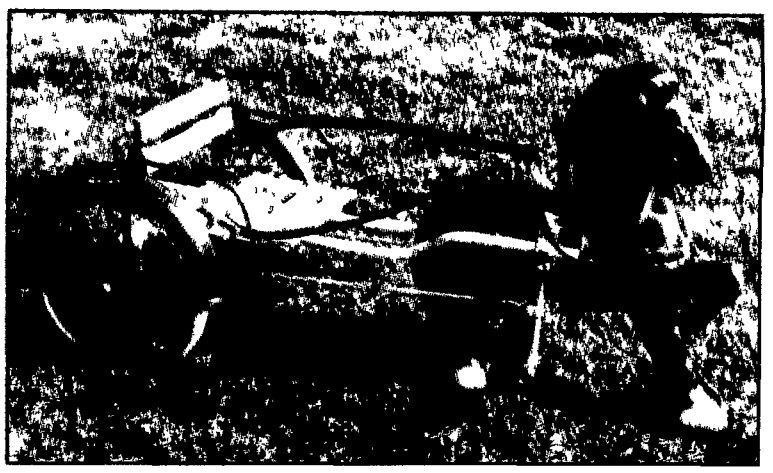
FARMERSVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — For 46 years the Pennsylvania Relief Sale has been raising money to help the needy of the world. Last year proceeds resulted in $457,875 being distributed to the needy around the world. This year, the event is scheduled for April 5-6 at the Harrisburg Farm Show building, corner of Cameron and Maclay Sts., Harrisburg.

Hundreds of people help by donating items to be auctioned. Some make quilts and crafts, host meals for bid, or donate antiques.

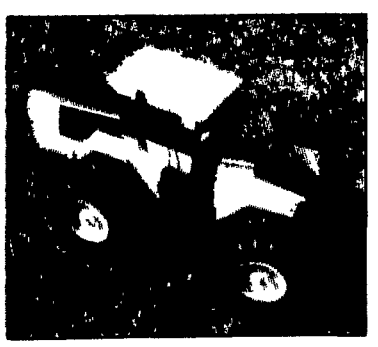
The farming community is a large part of the efforts that make this sale so successful in clothing the needy and feeding the hungry in the name of Christ. Each year for the past 22 years, a heifer sale for world relief is conducted at the New Holland Sales Stables. This year the sale was slated for March 20. Donations of slaughter cows, steers, bulls, hogs, calves, goats, hay, straw, grain, and farm seeds are accepted and auctioned to the highest bidder. This past year, donors could designate any slaughter animal to be sold with proceeds channeled to world relief through the Pennsylvania sale.

Four-year-old Tori Rutt tries out one of the pedal tractors to be auctioned at the Pennsylvania Relief Sale. Included in the Collector Edition Spirit tractors are models of an Oliver, Cockshutt, Minneapolis-Moline, and Cockshutt. Other models to be auctioned include a Massey-Harris 44 collector edition that can no longer be ordered, a John Deere A, first die cast vintage pedal tractor ever produced, a Case pedal tractor, and a collector edition IH Farmall M White demonstration pedal tractor.



This Sulky horse and carriage dates back to the 1930s. The metal and wood pedal toy is in working condition.

Called a theme basket, this toy wheelbarrow overflows with art supplies sure to delight a child recipient.



A Sterger cast iron tractor made by Valley Pattern will go to the highest bidder.

Esther said that a new item this year are the theme baskets. These are baskets or containers filled with an assortment of items to fill a theme. One of those prepared by Esther is toy wheelbarrow filled with an assortment of art supplies.

"I don't know how many we will end up with," Esther said. Lots of churches and individuals are putting them together and will bring them to Harrisburg or Friday or Saturday."

Theme baskets will be sold Sat., 2 p.m.

Coins to be offered for sale at 11 a.m. on Saturday include 100 Kennedy half dollars and 50 silver dollars. Gold coins include an 1899 $5, an 1886 $10, and a 1891 and 1878, $20 piece.

Rutt said of interest to many farmers and collectors is a 1951 Farmall Super A tractor with plow.

The auction is also famous for its vast collection of quilts made and donated by churches and individuals. Esther said that more than 400 quilts are expected to be offered this year.

Those desiring to donate items can drop them off at the Rutts' home, 19 W. Farmersville Rd., Ephrata. For more information, call the Rutts at (717) 354-2471.

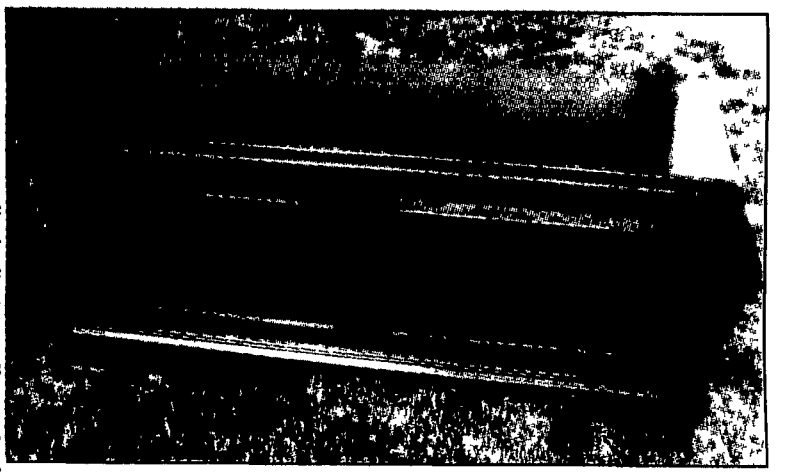
> "The farming community is a large part of the efforts that make this sale so successful in clothing the needy and feeding the hungry in the name of Christ."

A popular event at the annual sale, conducted the first Friday evening and Saturday in April is the country auction.

John and Esther Rutt have been overseeing collecting items for the country auction for many years. Items include glassware, dishes, crafts, pedal tractors theme baskets, handcrafted furniture, coins, antiques, and more.



This new handcrafted chest will be available in several different woods. This one is made of cherry wood and is cedar-lined with raised panel design.

Belleek Porcelain Not Always Of Irish Origin

Collecting 19th century art porcelain such as Belleek can be confusing for a beginner.

Usually it is thought of as being made in Ireland and having a delicate, pearly, translucent glaze and thinness. Other characteristics could be twig-shaped handles, lattice work, and applied floral and leaf designs. It is often reticulated (the lattice work is pierced).

CLUES: It is a matter of knowing what clues to look for. Let's say you discover a beautiful bowl at an estate sale that looks like 19th century Belleek but it lacks the traditional marks of the harp, Irish wolfhound and Celtic round tower.

On the bottom it is marked "Lotusware," Still, it has the translucent look associated with Irish Belleek and the body is thin. Research would prove your bowl to be a late 19th century American Belleek piece made by Knowles, Taylor & Knowles in 1887, one of several manufacturers who attempted to copy the eggshell translucence of Irish Belleek. It was produced in East Liverpool, Ohio. However, it was Ott & Brewer of Trenton, New Jersey that are considered the finest makers of this type of porcelain. At a recent Skinner auction, one of their Belleek bowls fetched $1,057.50. Other makers include Willets, Lenox and Ceramic Art Company.

Marks to look for are a circle with a crown and the words "Lotusware" printed around the circumference, for Knowles. Several marks were used by the Ceramic Art Company: the CAC monogram was used. Lenox used a green wreath. Ott & Brewer used the word "Belleek" superimposed of "O" and "B" as well as a crown with a sword through it and "O" and "B" below and "Bdelleek" above.

Use the Kovel's New Dictionary of Marks under the Belleek category for more help.

Pieces hand-painted by top artists have their initials.

Designs were influenced by the fashionable Art

Nouveau. Shapes showed the current interest in pieces from the Orient that were exhibited at the Columbian Exposition in 1893.

Among them the bottle form. Other artists used raised jewel decorations associated with Near Eastern designs.

Handling both American and Irish Belleek will show that the American ware has thicker walls. American makers concentrated on quality cabinet pieces, such as vases ornately decorated and with gilt trim. The shapes often followed the traditional Irish Belleek forms. By the end of the 1930s American production ceased for all manufacturers and it went out of fashion.

While artist signed pieces can sell for over a $1,000, the usual prices are a few hundred dollars.

Antique Detective

The porcelain they developed was so thin it was likened to an eggshell.

The Belleek we are most familiar with with its intricated designs was first made in 1857 at D.McBirney and Company in County Feremanagh, Belleek, Ireland. Most was trimmed with applied floral and leaf designs. It is still being made. It can be dated by its' many marks and types of glazes. The earliest pieces can sell for $3,000 or more. Cabinet sets consisting of a tray, cups and saucers, even into the early 20th century can sell at auction for over a thousand dollars.

So much was made in both utilitarian and decorative forms that it is still possible to start and affordable collection. Figures, openware baskets are possibilities.

Seashell shaped pieces are among the most recognizable. They were made by both American and Irish companies.

Service and Price from the Same Supplier?

Don't let your fuel prices get out of control this year. Take advantage of our special pricing for farming customers in effect from April through November, 2002. Your price for off-road low sulphur diesel and kerosene will be manageable and predictable this year...which is more than we can say for Mother Nature. Plus, it will be delivered when you need it. When you can't afford to sacrifice service for price, call Berks Products. Call now for details.

Northeast Project Fosters Next Generation

BELCHERTOWN, Mass. — With twice as many farmers over 65 years old as under 35, and about 400 million acres of farmland changing hands in the next 20 years, U.S. agriculture is at a crisis.

Today, new farmers must overcome significant challenges to enter and succeed in farming.

Farm entry has never been easy, but current barriers to accessing education and technical assistance, land, capital, credit, and markets are unprecedented.

Yet those who work with new and young farmers know that there are many people who want to farm in the Northeast. They are a richly diverse group, bringing a wide variety of skills and resources to their farming career choice.

Traditional pathways of farm entry and sources of support for these new farmers are no longer adequate to meet their unique needs and challenges.

A Northeast project, Growing New Farmers, is strengthening the regional service network and developing new programs focused on the next generation of farmers from Maine to West Virginia.

With $1.7 million in USDA funding, the project brings together more than 150 Northeast organizations and agencies that have committed to serving new farmers as members of the Growing New Farmers Consortium.

According to the Project Director Kathy Ruhf, this is the first regional effort of its kind focused on new farmers.

The consortium is an active network of "service providers" who exchange information and resources, participate in trainings to better understand and work with new farmers, and develop programs.

Growing New Farmers also sponsors research projects on new farmer decision-making, farm succession, and farmer learning models — each of which will add to the slim body of information about beginning and young farmers. Another component will make policy recommendations and conduct policy education forums around new farmer issues.

New tools such as a market selection workbook, on-farm skills curriculum and mentor training, and access to land publications will help new farmers succeed.

A new Website, www.northeastnewfarmer.org, features a searchable directory of programs and services for new farmers (also available in hard copy) and online learning courses for farmers and service professionals alike.

A portion of the GNF project funds was allocated to a "competitive initiative" to stimulate new farmer program innovation among consortium members.

Out of about 40 proposals being reviewed by peer consortium members, several will receive a portion of the grant dollars. For example, some proposals seek to create or improve community-based lending structures for new farmers. Others propose decision-making tools to help guide farm entry.

A new farmer "typology" created by project collaborators helps GNF participants customize and target services.

For this effort, new farmers include those not yet farming — recruits, explorers, and planners. They need specific kinds of information and assistance to guide their decision to enter production agriculture.

New farmer "start-ups" from 0-3 years have different needs from those who are restrategizing and becoming established (4-10 years).

The Growing New Farmers project is under the leadership of a collaborative of several Northeast organizations: Pennsylvania Farm Link, the Maryland Department of Agriculture, Cornell University, the University of Massachusetts, and the New England Small Farm Institute. The Institute is the grant recipient and houses the project in its Belchertown, Mass. offices.

For more information, visit the Website and/or call Kathy Ruhf at (413) 323-4531 or e-mail gnf@smallfarm.org.

OSU Extension Tax Management Factsheets Available

FINDLAY, Ohio — Ohio State University Extension has made available several Farm Income Tax Management factsheets for producers and landowners who may need tax management tips.

The topics include government payment programs, income averaging, home office deduction, frequently asked agricultural questions, conservation programs and farm trucks, the last two of which are new factsheets for this year.

Farm Income Tax Management: Conservation Programs factsheet describes the various USDA-sponsored soil and water conservation programs that make available cost-share payments, which may be deductible or excluded from income. Some of these programs include the Conservation Reserve Program, Conservation Reserve Enhancement Program, Wetlands Reserve Program, Emergency Conservation Program, Emergency Watershed Program, Wildlife Habitat Program and Forestry Incentives Program.

"The information attempts to illustrate that not all conservation program expense items are treated the same way," said Robert Fleming, an Ohio State Extension Farm Management District Specialist.

For example, most conservation programs, such as the Conservation Reserve Program and the Conservation Reserve Enhancement Program, are eligible for expense deductions, but cannot be excluded from a farmer's income. Other programs, such as the Wildlife Habitat Program and the Forestry Incentives Program can be excluded from a farmer's income, but the expenses cannot be deducted.

Fleming said that farmers should be aware of which programs their income and expenses fall under for proper reporting.

Another area that receives frequent questions is how to properly report the use of farm trucks. Fleming said that several factors are involved that may affect the allowable depreciation of a farm truck, including the vehicle's gross weight and its potential designation as "listed property", if it is not used more than 50 percent of the time in a business.

"There are many farmers who use their vehicles for personal travel, as well as business. This newsletter is designed for those who use their vehicles for business purposes only," said Fleming.

To receive a copy of the tax factsheets, contact your local Ohio State Extension office of log on to http://northwest.osu.edu and click under "farm management."

APHIS To 'Consider' Certain Rule Changes For U.S. Scrapie Eradication Program

SAN ANTONIO, Texas — A number of changes to streamline and simplify some of the regulations governing certain aspects of the scrapie eradication program that went into effect last year are being "considered", according to officials of the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service-Veterinary Service (APHIS-VS), the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA.)

Meeting with industry leaders and producers at the American Sheep Industry Association annual convention here, Dr. Michael Gilsdorf, Chief, National Animal Health Program Staff, APHIS, unveiled nearly 20 possible changes to the regulation. Further, Dr. Gilsdorf and Dr. Diane Sutton, National Scrapie Eradication program coordinator, encouraged the industry to suggest other changes to improve the program.

Most of the proposed changes are aimed at streamlining the record keeping from farm to market. Other changes have to do with various definitions, including commingling.

Dr. Sutton said that while the various proposed changes are under consideration, APHIS-VS may suspend enforcement of very specific aspects of the rule during the comment period and until final decisions are made. She said that APHIS also intends to purpose for comment other amendments to the rule.

"We will take input on these possible changes and suggestions on other areas of concern until the suspensions and proposal are published for comment in the Federal Register. After that happens, only official comments will be considered. Publication may take several months," according to Dr. Sutton.

The basic rules for individual identification and transporting sheep and goats across state lines remain unchanged. Therefore, producers must continue to identify their animals as prescribed. As of late January, about 11 percent of the industry had obtained official premises ID numbers.

"During the next several months, the first time a producer is found to not be in compliance with the rule, he/she will be told by APHIS officials about the new regulations and advised on how to comply. Once the producer has been given an adequate opportunity to acquire official identification, if another shipment of animals comes in 'not in compliance', stronger measures will be taken," Dr. Sutton said.

Information on the accelerated scrapie eradication program can be found on the Internet at www.animalagriculture.org/scrapie or www.aphis.usda.gov/scrapie.htm, or by calling 1-866-873-2824.

John Deere Builds 1600 Turbo Wide-Area Mower

TRIANGLE PARK, N.C. — Commercial cutters need a mower that provides the ultimate power, maneuverability, traction and cut quality in any mowing condition. The John Deere 1600 Turbo wide-area mower provides that and more.

After examining customer feedback regarding John Deere wide-area mowers, the Company challenged its development team to build a mower that would offer commercial cutters an improved level of power and productivity. The result of that challenge is the John Deere 1600 Turbo wide-area mower.

The John Deere 1600 Turbo wide-area mower is powered by a 64-horsepower, turbo-charged Yanmar diesel engine with high torque, providing plenty of power for tough mowing conditions. Equipped with a 22-gallon fuel tank, this mower can operate all day at a fierce clipping rate of 8.5 acres an hour at 6.5 mph, without refueling.

To increase productivity on the job, the mower includes a hydrostatic, dual transaxle that achieves a mowing speed of up to 8.6 miles per hour. To get from job to job quickly, the mower can achieve a transport speed of up to 14.5 miles per hour.

With a cutting width of almost 11 feet, the 1600 turbo wide-area mower accommodates three commercial seven-gauge (.177 in.) mower decks — one 62-inch center-mower deck and two 42-inch wing decks.

New Pull-Type Swather From Massey Ferguson

ATLANTA, Ga. — Massey Ferguson's new MF 120PT Pull-Type Swather offers cutting widths up to 35 feet, and easy conversion from swathing to transport position in less than two minutes, without tools, to move quickly to the next field.

An efficient drive system and cambered mainframe wheels reduce machine side draft and make the MF 120PT Swather easy to pull. The unit is light enough to be handled with ease, yet puts strength where it's needed, like the 8.6-inch diameter backbone tube that ensures against twisting and stress while improving machine tracking.

Minimum tractor horsepower needed to handle headers up to 30 feet in cutting widths is only 40 PTO hp. A minimum 50 PTO hp is needed for the 35-ft. header.

An adjustable stop on the header lift cylinder lets the operator preset the cutting height for consistent swath size and even harvesting. Header lift and lower speed is also adjustable to match crop conditions. The machine performs well swathing a wide variety of grain crops as well as grass seed crops such as fescue.

Reel height is adjustable from the tractor seat to match changing crop conditions, while a needle valve on the lift cylinder makes it easy to adjust reel lift and lower speed to meet personal preferences.

The single sickle is driven by a V-belt for simple overload protection. Sickle speed on the 21-, 25- and 30-ft. models is 1,300 strokes per minute. Sickle speed on the 35-ft. model is 1,200 strokes per minute.

Land Pride Introduces Grooming Mowers

SALINA, Kan. — Land Pride's new AT26 Series air tunnel grooming mowers continue an outstanding tradition of mowing excellence.

Available in three key widths of 60 inches, 72 inches and 84 inches, these air tunnel mowers now feature the vacuum formed ABS belt guards and discharge chutes and the one-piece gauge wheel arms. The one-piece tubing for the gauge wheel arms increases strength and adds to the overall appearance.

The finest in grooming results are made possible by the air tunnel design. The aggressive high speed cutting blades cut the grass cleanly and the air tunnel system discharges it efficiently, even in many moist, rugged and tall grass conditions.

Floating hitch blocks and a floating top link allow the mower to follow ground contours, while the front roller option and four-gauge wheels keep the mower deck close to the ground.

Operation is convenient, with clevis hitch hook-up, and easy to adjust wheel spindles. Mowing height is very easy to adjust in ½-inch increments.

Remote greasing of spindle hubs allows for easy maintenance and the overall air tunnel design allows for quick thorough cleaning and washing.

Homestead Nutrition Announces Changes In Marketing Dept.

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Homestead Nutrition, Inc. recently announced a promotion and the hiring of a a new salesman in its marketing department.

Les Yoder has been promoted to vice president of marketing. He has been with the Homestead firm for three years and has 23 years experience in dairy nutrition consulting.

Ken Grube, Mohnton, began working for Homestead January 1. Beginning with working on a dairy farm at age of 11, to earning a master's degree in dairy science at Virginia Tech, and to working in livestock nutrition sales and service and AI programs, he's had extensive experience in animal nutrition.

Grube was graduated from Warwick High School, Lititz, where he was active in FFA, and received his bachelor's degree in dairy science in 1975 from Delaware Valley College, Doylestown. After obtaining his master's degree, he worked for Sire Power, Inc. for a few years and then managed his own registered Holstein herd for several years.

After serving as the area manager of a livestock nutrition sales and service company for 14 years, Grube spent the last three years in AI work.

Norm Hershey Becomes Sales Rep For Lapp's Equip.

GAP (Lancaster Co.) — Lapp's Barn Equipment, Inc. recently announced that Norm Hershey, longtime Gordonvile area dairy farmer and DHIA director, has become a regional sales representative for the company.

Hershey brings with him 31 years experience milking cows and extensive work with dairy herd improvement as a director and three years as president of the Pennsylvania DHIA.

Hershey's sales area for Lapp's will cover the area west of Rt. 10, north of Rt. 30 to Rt. 80.

In addition to Hershey, Lapp's also announced the hiring of Wilbur Weaver as a new service technician.

Bruce Towns New Regional Dairy Manager At Blue Seal

LONDONDERRY, N.H. — Bruce Towns recently joined Blue Seal as the Regional Sales Manager — Dairy Division, based at Blue Seal's Richford, Vermont mill. He will oversee Blue Seal dairy feed sales in Northern Vermont and Northeast New York.

A graduate of University of Wisconsin-Whitewater, Mr. Towns served as general manager of the Wisconsin Holstein Association for eight years prior to joining Blue Seal. His background also includes 15 years of sales experience with Kent Feeds, Inc. in Muscatine, Iowa.

Blue Seal Feeds, Inc. is headquartered in Londonderry, N.H. and is affiliated with Kent Feeds, Inc. in the midwestern states and Evergreen Mills, Inc. in the southwest. Blue Seal manufacturers feed for horses, dairy cattle, livestock, poultry, pets and wild birds. The company operates nine feed mills located throughout the northeast and mid-Atlantic states.

CB Structures Awarded Building Of The Year

LAWRENCE, Kan. — CB Structures, Inc. of New Holland, Pa., has been recognized with the prestigious Building of the Year award from the National Frame Builders Association. The awards were presented at the 2002 Frame Building Expo in San Antonio, Texas in February.

CB was presented the award in the Commercial Buildings under 5,000-square-foot category for the facility built for Brian and Vicky Higgs. The 40-foot by 80-foot by 18-foot facility is located on main road 213 and 19 in Maryland's Eastern Shore. The building is used for automotive repair.

The National Frame Builders Association Building of the Year awards are the most prestigious awards presented to builders in the post-frame construction industry. Each year several hundred entries are submitted to become one of the 14 winners.

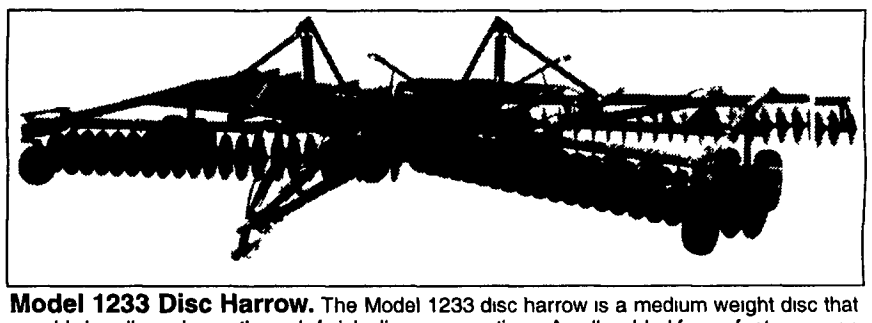
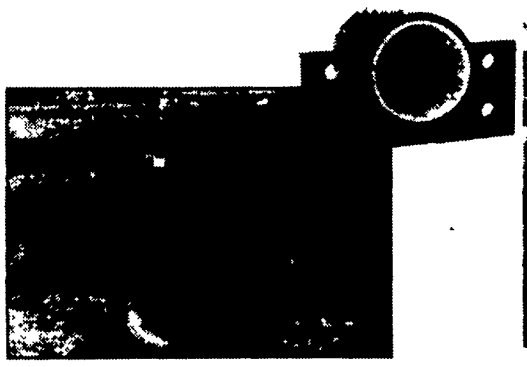
Model 1211 for Smaller Horsepower. The Model 1211 Disc Harrow is Sunflower's discing answer for America's smaller farmers. It is available in rigid models only and matches tractor horsepower in the range of 110 and lower. With exception of gauge wheels, the 1211 has all of the same outstanding features common to the 1233. It's tough, heavy and capable of performing primary and finish discing operations. You'll like the way it cuts the soil, leaving your field in a ridge free condition. The 1211 truly meets the toughest standards, earning it the label of America's best built disc Cutting widths available from 10' to 15'.

Sunflower – The best performing discs on the market today!



Model 1233 Disc Harrow. The Model 1233 disc harrow is a medium weight disc that capably handles primary-through-finish-discing operations. An all welded frame features even weight distribution for uniform penetration, and the three flexible sections assure that rough, rolling and terraced ground will be tilled evenly and smoothly. Large tires provide excellent flotation, unmatched depth control and the base for level discing. Like all Sunflower Discs, the 1233 is loaded wtih features that give it a definite edge over competitive brands. These features enable the 1233 to always provide a level job of discing, regardless of terrain, discing depth and/or soil condition.



Maintenance-Free Lift System

Gauge Wheels

C-Flex™ Bearing Standard

Model 1434 Disc Harrow. Unit folds to a narrow transport width (13' 5" on 19-28' models) (17' 8" on 29-35' models) Walking tandem wheels on center section effectively distribute weight evenly for increased tire life Increased ground clearance during transport makes travel from one field to another much easier

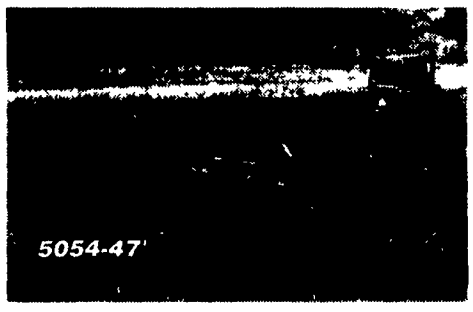
5000 Field Cultivator



Prepare a bed as you would for yourself

The Sunflower 5000 Field Cultivator ranks as one of the best overall cultivators on the market today. Structural design, trash clearance and depth control are just three reasons why this unit has attained such a high rating A heavy-duty 3"x4" rectangular welded steel frame provides the rugged durability it takes to withstand the stresses created by today's high horsepower tractors It's time to discover a new level of performance

- 190 lb Point load spring shank assembly or a 2 piece "S" tine shank available
- Heavy-duty walking tandems standard in all locations
- Front Mounted Single Point Depth Control is easy, safe and precise

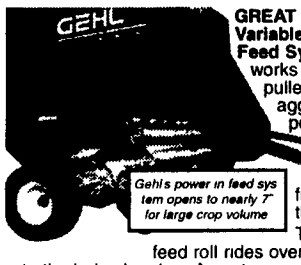
GEHL. MODEL RB 2580
ROUND BALER 4'x5'
Featuring the ALL-NEW Variable Open-Throat Power In-Feed System



Gehl's power in feed system opens to nearly 7" for large crop volume

GREAT BALING STARTS HERE Variable Open-Throat Power In-Feed System Here's how it works The incoming crop is pulled off the pickup by the aggressive action of two power in-feed rolls – a 6-inch-diameter pivoting power in-feed roll on top and an 8-inch diameter fixed power in-feed roll on the bottom

The top pivoting power in-feed roll rides over the crop as it is pulled into the bale chamber An extension spring keeps the toproll under constant downward force

The spring tension increases as the variable throat opens from a minimum of 3/4 of an inch up to a maximum opening of nearly 7 inches

The constant downward force of the pivoting upper powered in-feed roll, in combination with the fixed lower in-feed roll, both turning inward, pinches the crop and forces it into the bale chamber The stripping roll strips crop off the belt and forces it down to the incoming crop Adjustable scrapers on the stripping roll and pivoting roll eliminate buildup

THREE-BALL TWINE BOX. Gehl balers are designed to keep you going all day long with six-ball twine storage. They're located in full-size doors that open to provide easy access to baler components like an optional chain oiler system or the Total Density Control adjustments.

GAUGE WHEELS. Allow the pickup to follow field contours while keeping tines out of the dirt. That saves wear and tear on the pickup and means less dirt in your bale. Gauge wheels are standard equipment with the wide pickup and an option with some others.

BELTS. Deluxe balers feature chevron belts (pictured above) with heavy duty, plate-type belt lacing. The belts are 6-1/2 inches wide for closer spacing between belts and less space between the belts and side sheets. Belts are configured in a staggered pattern to minimize trash build-up.

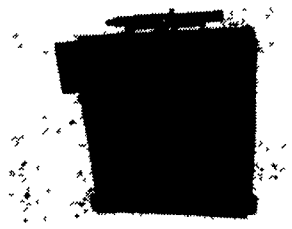
UNIVERSAL QUICK ATTACH SKID LOADER MOWER SM60

The SM60 skid steer mower from Servis-Rhino® and your skid steer loader can tackle a range of industrial, commercial, and agricultural mowing jobs.



Baffling under the deck directs cut material out the left side of the mower, and away from the skid steer Free-swinging updraft blades and high blade tip speeds help ensure a clean cut The pan blade carrier is reinforced with a 3/4" steel plate for strength and durability The SM60 has square shouldered blade bolts that cannot turn in the blade carrier eliminating the risk of premature failure.

A hydraulic relief valve in the drive motor provides overload protection for greater dependability. The smooth deck design helps make clean off easy. Optional front mounted skid shoes help prevent "bottoming out" The flexible hitch linkage allows the unit to follow ground contours more easily

Cutting Width: 60"

The skid steer loader must be equipped with an operator front protective door. Contact your skid steer manufacturer or an authorized dealer for equipping your loader with a protective door.

TW120

The TW120 cuts a 120" swath of material The center gearbox, rated at 120 HP, transfers power to the 100 HP outboard gearboxes Torque dampeners on both sides of the center gearbox help prevent driveline and gearbox damage caused from sudden shockloads Massive 2-3/8" diameter output shafts in the outboard gearboxes help provide optimum service. The pull-type and semi-mount units require a 50 HP (min) tractor and the lift-type unit requires a 60 HP (min) tractor (with adequate front weights)

DB150. Over 30 years of hydraulic mower design experience has made the Rhino® DB150 the preferred choice of experienced operators for the mowing of pond banks, levees, drainage ditches, and hard-to-reach areas

The DB150 can extend to a maximum of 158" from the center line of the tractor allowing the 60 inch rotary head to cut areas that are difficult or impossible to reach with ordinary mowers By being hydraulically driven, maintenance is greatly reduced with the absence of belts and pulleys The DB150 outperforms many competitive units with smaller hydraulic systems The DB150 utilizes a 60 gallon hydraulic system which allows the unit to run cooler in tough mowing conditions The large reservoir also serves as a counterweight and remains stationary on the mainframe, eliminating the potential traffic hazard of a movable counter-balance weight The DB150 features a heavy-duty three-point hitch using a lower double lug hitch system to fit a wide range of tractors. To help insure a clean cut, the DB150 features updraft blades and a blade tip speed of 20,028 FPM.

Hoober & Kubota... Becoming Part of the Landscape

Yep, that's a Kubota tractor you see working on the golf course, construction site, nursery and everywhere there's a landscape. Kubota utility tractors from Hoober are tough, versatile and maneuverable, which makes them ideal for a variety of applications.

The superb maneuverability comes from the hydrostatic transmission and 4WD system. A single pedal controls both speed and direction, and allows you to change quickly without shifting or clutching. This feature is especially helpful when working in tight spaces.

Call Don Beidler Today for All Your Kubota Needs!

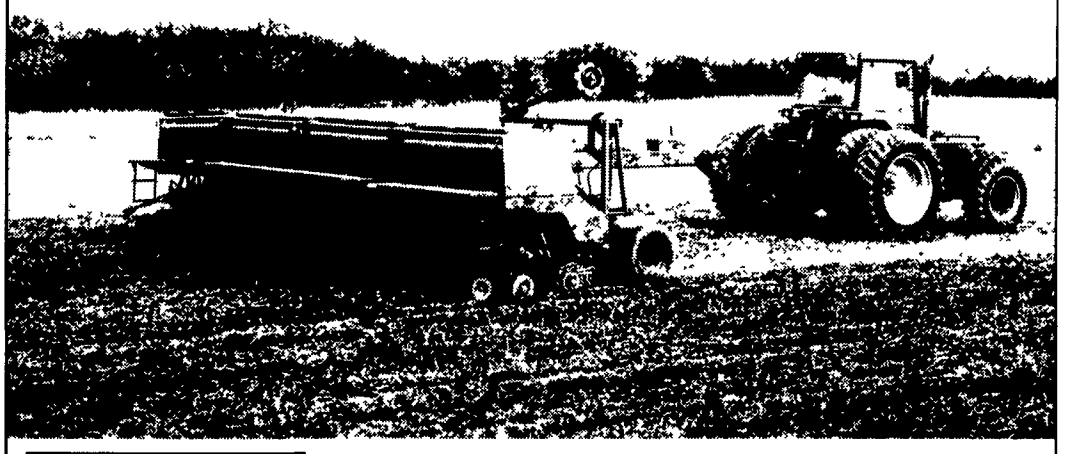
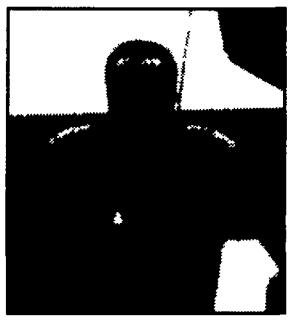
Achieve Better Stands & Better Yields

With Great Plains Precision Seeding Systems





"I just bought a new Great Plains 30' No-Till Precision Drill from Hoober because I liked the concept of better seed placement, better emergence and increased yields. I've been running Great Plains drills for 10 years and I really like the dependability and efficiency of Great Plains and I like how Hoober's service team that backs it up and keeps you going. Hoober's a good organization - they really aim to please the farmer."

David Smith ~ Church Hill, MD

The versatile Great Plains Precision Seeding System, available in 15' and 30' widths, is the ideal tool for planting beans, corn, milo, cotton, wheat and rice. Before you buy your next planter or drill, check out the Seeding System that is revolutionizing crop production.

NEW! Vermeer 554XL Baler:

Cut-Out Clutch Protection
No more burnt or hot discs to wrestle with Greater protection for those times when your baler s pulling harder on the outside rows the tractor's overpowered or you accidentally overfill when trying to bale that last strip of hay

Here's why:

- 5-bar pickup handles bigger windrows, faster speeds.
- Simple, horizontal bale-starting system is designed for fast starts
- Bottom drum design lets you pull in hay faster; often allowing you to drive a full gear faster.
- Best HaySaver Wheels in the field.
- Up to 1200 lbs. in a single 65" dia. x 48" wide package; 2000 lb. capacity with silage baler option.
- Silage option lets you bale wet or dry without changing a thing.
- Makes bales 17%* larger than a standard 5' dia. x 4' wide baler at virtually the same price! **

* determined by comparing volume measurement of a standard 60" dia. x 48" wide bale versus a 65 dia. x 48" wide Vermeer bale
 Price comparison is based on published list prices (Y2000) between Vermeer 554XL Series Baler and other 5 x 4 competitive round baler models

Vermeer

AGCO WHITE PLANTERS

You've picked the perfect seed –

now plant the perfect row.

get it right with WHITE

- Superior Seed Singulation
- 1/2 inch to 4-inch planting depth
- Improved Seed Meter Access
- Easy-to-View Seed Depth Indicator
- Quick Release Hoppers

INTRODUCING THE WHITE 8000 SERIES PLANTERS

You've done your research, prepared your field, and picked the perfect seed variety. Now plant that perfect row, with the 8000 Series planter from White. With 49 models to match your needs, they're packed with features that save time and plant 4 to 31 rows of corn or soybeans with unmatched precision. The 8000 Series features an improved seed meter design for outstanding accuracy with a wider variety of seed sizes. And standard walking beam gauge wheels along with increased planting depth range of 1/2 inch to 4 inches give superior depth control over larger surface irregularities. Select models feature "on-the-go" seed rate adjustment from your tractor cab. FlexFrame designs range from 30' to 60' for an "acre-eater" performance from one end of your field to the other.

It's time to plant the perfect row. Stop by your White Planter Dealer today and get it right with WHITE.

"We are very pleased with our Roto-Mix Mixer."

-Phil Julian, Dairy Farm Manager, Kreider Farms, Manheim, PA

"I am glad we had the mixer installed on the truck at the Roto-Mix factory in Dodge City, KS. They do a good installation and when we received the unit it was ready to go. We like it a lot."

- Phil Julian, Farm Manager

Kreider Farms' dairy operation milks 1,430 Holsteins with 20,300 lb. herd average.

- Using a 900 Roto-Mix Ensilmixer with 900 cu. ft. mixing capacity, purchased from Lapp's Barn Equipment in 1999 as the primary feed mixer, mounted on a 350 hp Mack truck.
- 12 mixes per day, range from 5,000 lbs. to 20,000 lbs. per mix.
- Average ration 51 lbs. dry matter per cow per day, including 7 lbs. dry baled hay.

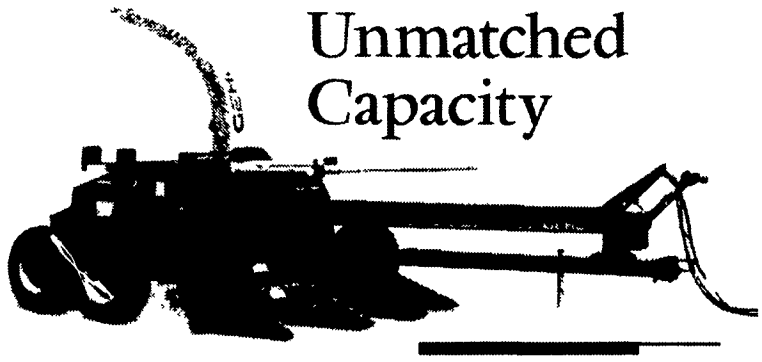
GEHL®

YOUR LIVESTOCK IMPLEMENT LINE

Unmatched Capacity



Gehl Forage Harvesters Get The Job Done Faster With These Special Features:

Exclusive Auto-Max™ Sensing System
Increases capacity by up to 20%.

Big 12" Cross Auger
Keeps cut crop mowing.

Metal Stop™ Metal Detector
Prevents machine damage and hardware disease.

Reverse Knife Sharpening and One-Side Cutterbar Adjustment
Makes sharpening and adjustment easy.

Crop Processing Unit
Features high-capacity, "Straight through" crop flow design.

Hay Pickups
Available up to 9-feet wide.

BETTER CUT!
HIGHER FLUFFIER WINDROWS!

Model 2345
9' 2" Cut

Model 2365
10' 3" Cut

With the Simplicity You Want!

GEHL DELIVERS HIGH SPEED PERFORMANCE AND MORE RELIABILITY, TOO!

Gehl disc mower conditioners feature a simple drive system with fewer moving parts to power both the cutterbar and conditioning rolls from a single gearcase New cutterbar design delivers consistent performance in the toughest crops and conditions. Full-width skid shoes and the patented Protectadrive™ system protect cutterbar gears. Disc drive assemblies are individually removeable for quick servicing
Wider rolls provide more consistent conditioning while Gehl's unique forming chamber delivers fast-drying higher-standing, fluffier windrows or full-width swaths.

NOBODY DOES HAY BETTER

0% For 36 Months Call For Details

JOHN DEERE

Complete hay control starts at the pickup. Hay is gathered and precompressed before it reaches the bale chamber... for more-solid bales. Gear-and shaft-driven knotters adjust to different twines and crops. Easy to service, too.

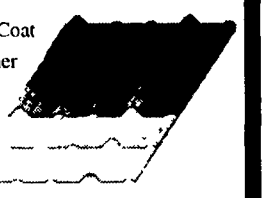
The Ultimate G-100 Process
"The Best"



NOTE! It is more important what is under the paint than what you see on top!

1 One of the best paints, superior acid rain, cracking resistance and color retention
2 Primer coat promotes outstanding top coat adhesion
3 Zinc phosphate pretreatment This is a very important process - if your current supplier cannot supply you with this or does not know you should reconsider
4 G-100 Galvanized Most metal roofing has approx 40% less galvanized under the paint G-100 is more galvanized than most unpainted panels
5 Full Hard Anything less than full hard will bend easier, lower snow loads, etc
6 Heat formed Metal is painted before ribs are formed Most paint cracks at bends, heat forming greatly reduces cracks (check metal siding that is installed for 5-10 years)
7 Stronger design, superior strength, more metal per L F
8 Add Everything Together And Price Should Be $53 37 Per Square $1 69 Per L F

OUR SPECIAL PRICE ONLY
$46.74 PER SQUARE

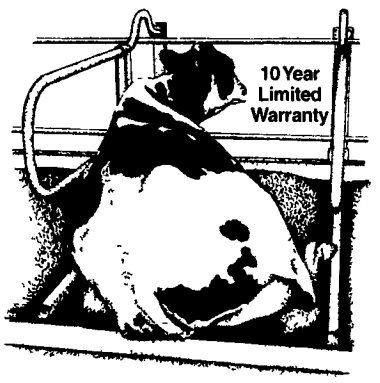
Waterbeds for Cows



ALANTA
LimPoly Patent Pending

The ALANTA Waterbed for cows is a revolutionary product, comfortable, safe and hygienic. It clearly improves your cows' well-being and therefore promotes higher milk production. It is the ultimate stall floor covering for the modern, animal-friendly dairy farm.

WELL MADE
The ALANTA Waterbed is made of two rubber layers with a water-filled compartment in between. GD-Enerka gives a 10-year guarantee.

COMFORTABLE
The waterbed molds itself to the cow's shape. It's cool in summer and pleasantly warm in winter.

SAFE
Thanks to the non-slip rubber upper surface, the cow is gripped firmly and cannot slip off. In this way the ALANTA waterbed keeps damage to hooves to a minimum.

ALFALFA SEED $1.55/Lb.

from the Dakota's Trask Family Seeds

- Features grower to grower direct seed sales
- SDSU tested
- Distributors in Lancaster PA Martinsburg WV & Syracuse NY
- Offered to growers for $1.55/per lb in 60 lb bags
- Varieties S D Common Vernal and others
- These Alfalfa varieties are proven to compete with the expensive varieties in all conditions and always carry our money back guarantee

PA farmers have great hay crops with South Dakota alfalfa seed. Painterland Farms, Westfield, PA, John Painter said "The Trask's seed grew extremely well. We recommend it to anyone. It is real leafy and yielded as well as any of the high priced name brand seeds. It cost 40% as much. We planted 294 acres. We intend to plant more this spring. It was exceptionally winter hardy and resisted frost damage. We are very pleased.

Join the numerous farmers in the PA/NY area harvesting wonderful alfalfa from South Dakota seed

SEWAGE TREATMENT SYSTEM FOR SALE

Unused FAST (Fixed Activated Sludge Treatment) System Biologically oxidizes organic matter to produce a clear odorless effluent which is then disinfected by an ultraviolet sterilizer This system was originally designed to be used onboard ships but is also usable on land It is sized for approximately 125 people or 7000 gallons per day The effluent could be directed toward a stream, or used for watering Here is how it works

Arrangement This system includes two pumps, a Roots blower, UV Sterilizer, diverter valve, three float switches, control panel and remote alarm panel All equipment except the remote alarm panel is assembled on the unit

The unit is divided internally into two tanks, a media tank and a wet well The wet well is a retention tank, sized for adequate disinfection time during peak flow periods Biological treatment takes place in the media tank The media is assembled into blocks using corrugated sheets of PVC, which provide flow channels and a large surface area for microbial growth

Operation. Raw sewage enters the media tank through the influent trap at one end of the unit displacing an equal amount of clear water into the wet well

The wet well is discharged by one of the duplex discharge pumps Each is rated for 100% duty, ergo one pump is selected as the "duty" pump and the other as "standby" If the duty pump malfunctions, the water level in the well reaches the "high level" float switch, automatically starting the standby, which will pump until the wet well level reaches the "pump off" float switch which turns the standby pump off

One pump runs continuously, pumping water from the wet well through the UV sterilizer, the diverter valve and back to the wet well Each time the water passes through the UV sterilizer, the germicidal ultraviolet radiation disinfects the water, and the water cools the UV lamps The throttling valve regulates flow through the UV sterilizer

The tank is approx 16' long x 8' wide x 9 ft high Drawings and more detailed information is available Although the system is unused and never run, bearings and seals in the motors may have to be replaced due to long storage The original price was approx $55,000

WANT TO BUY FARM LAND
The Eastern Central MD/PA border area in either state would be ideal! 100 acres or more w/the purpose to reconstruct an antique log dwelling for my private residence. Will also be raising some beef cattle. I will be willing to write in deed restrictions to assure that it will always remain as a single parcel of undeveloped acreage. This would be an excellent opportunity to keep a portion of a large family farm in tact Please call and leave a message for Mr. Dean at (703) 581-1797.

Several March Specials Await You!

Snyder Co. has 2 farms ready for this spring

Farm #1 is a 98 acre grain farm with a piece of History The old log house has been semi-modernized with kitchen, bath (rather than a path) 3 small bedrooms but lots of potential There is lots of road frontage and the availability for "AG PRESERVE" If you go this route you'll have a very cheap farm You decide The owner will finance

Farm #2 is a dairy farm with 72 acres and additional land to rent This is a 50 cow stanchion barn with lots of other outbuildings This farm again could go into "AG PRESERVE" and again have a very reasonable workable farm with country living for your family There is a 2-1/2 story aluminum sided house with 2 baths for that large or growing farm family This farm also has owner financing at very reasonable terms and rate Call today A little paint and remove some of the older buildings will make this one a show place

Dauphin Co. this 82 Acre Beef & Layer operation is ideal for a young or growing family There is a 2 yr old layer house which is computerized and takes very few hours a day The beef operation is capable of over 200 head with manure pit silo's feed conveyors, TMR and a farm family 4 bedroom home The 50' by 80' Implement shed handles a large JD 25' combine with ease
